Ames Senior High School, Ames, Iowa

Out of the barren ground

all help me deserve my name—

AMES HIGH SCHOOL

I will stand here many years, and many will know me.
They will come within me,
and when they leave
they will take a part of me, as I
will keep a part of them.
The little days will be forgotten,
but there will be moments that they and I will remember.
These moments will someday become memories.
I will hold these memories within me
so that those who follow may see
... and build others.

Pre-school activities

Marilyn Sealock, chosen by popular vote and an interview, traveled to Girls' State at Cedar Falls last summer. The girls at this session formed a model state government, Hawkeye, to gain experience in handling Iowa's state and local governments.

Boys' State, held at Camp Dodge, served this same purpose of exposing high school students to Iowa government. Those chosen to represent Ames at Boys' State were Charles Crane, Gary Grabau, Bill Haeder and Dave Kinker.

ATTENDING BOYS' STATE at Camp Dodge during the summer were Bill Haeder, Charles Crane, Dave Kinker and Gary Grabau.

Soph. activities

Sophomores braved the summer heat to attend sophomore orientation in the new stadium. Mr. Adams and Mrs. Whitney welcomed the new students and introduced the sophomore counselors. Sophomore cheersquad tryouts were held, followed by a tour of the building.

Driver Education was offered this year as it was several years ago. For the past five years driver education was offered only during the summer. Mr. Ritland and Mr. Stone coordinated the course.

Anticipation

Orange and black-painted lobby windows, crepe paper streamers, decorated lockers and homeroom doors, and a student body bubbling with enthusiasm ushered in Homecoming Week. Ten girls were nominated to serve as Homecoming queen as the anticipation continued to mount. Each homeroom put forth an effort to win the door decoration prize, giving an opportunity for every student to participate.

Preparation

Homecoming activities came to a climax Thursday after school with a caravan to the Central auditorium. The crowning of the queen was followed by cheering, a pep skit, and the awarding of prizes for the most outstanding homeroom door decorations. The assembly ended in a snake dance and parade down Main Street. Because of a teachers' convention Friday, students were given the whole day to prepare for the game and the Homecoming Dance.

Finale

Queen Bobbi McIntire and attendants Holly Jackson and Nancy Nims were presented at half-time of the game and reigned over the Homecoming dance, "Amber Dusk." A special feature this year included a recognition of alumni during the half-time entertainment and a tea with tours of the new building after the game.

Homecoming 1966 meant many things to many people. Our Cyclones fell that night before the Grinnell Tigers, but that isn't what we shall remember. The spirit of oneness and pride in Ames High School that arose in each of us and the memories of a beautiful Homecoming night will remain with us forever.

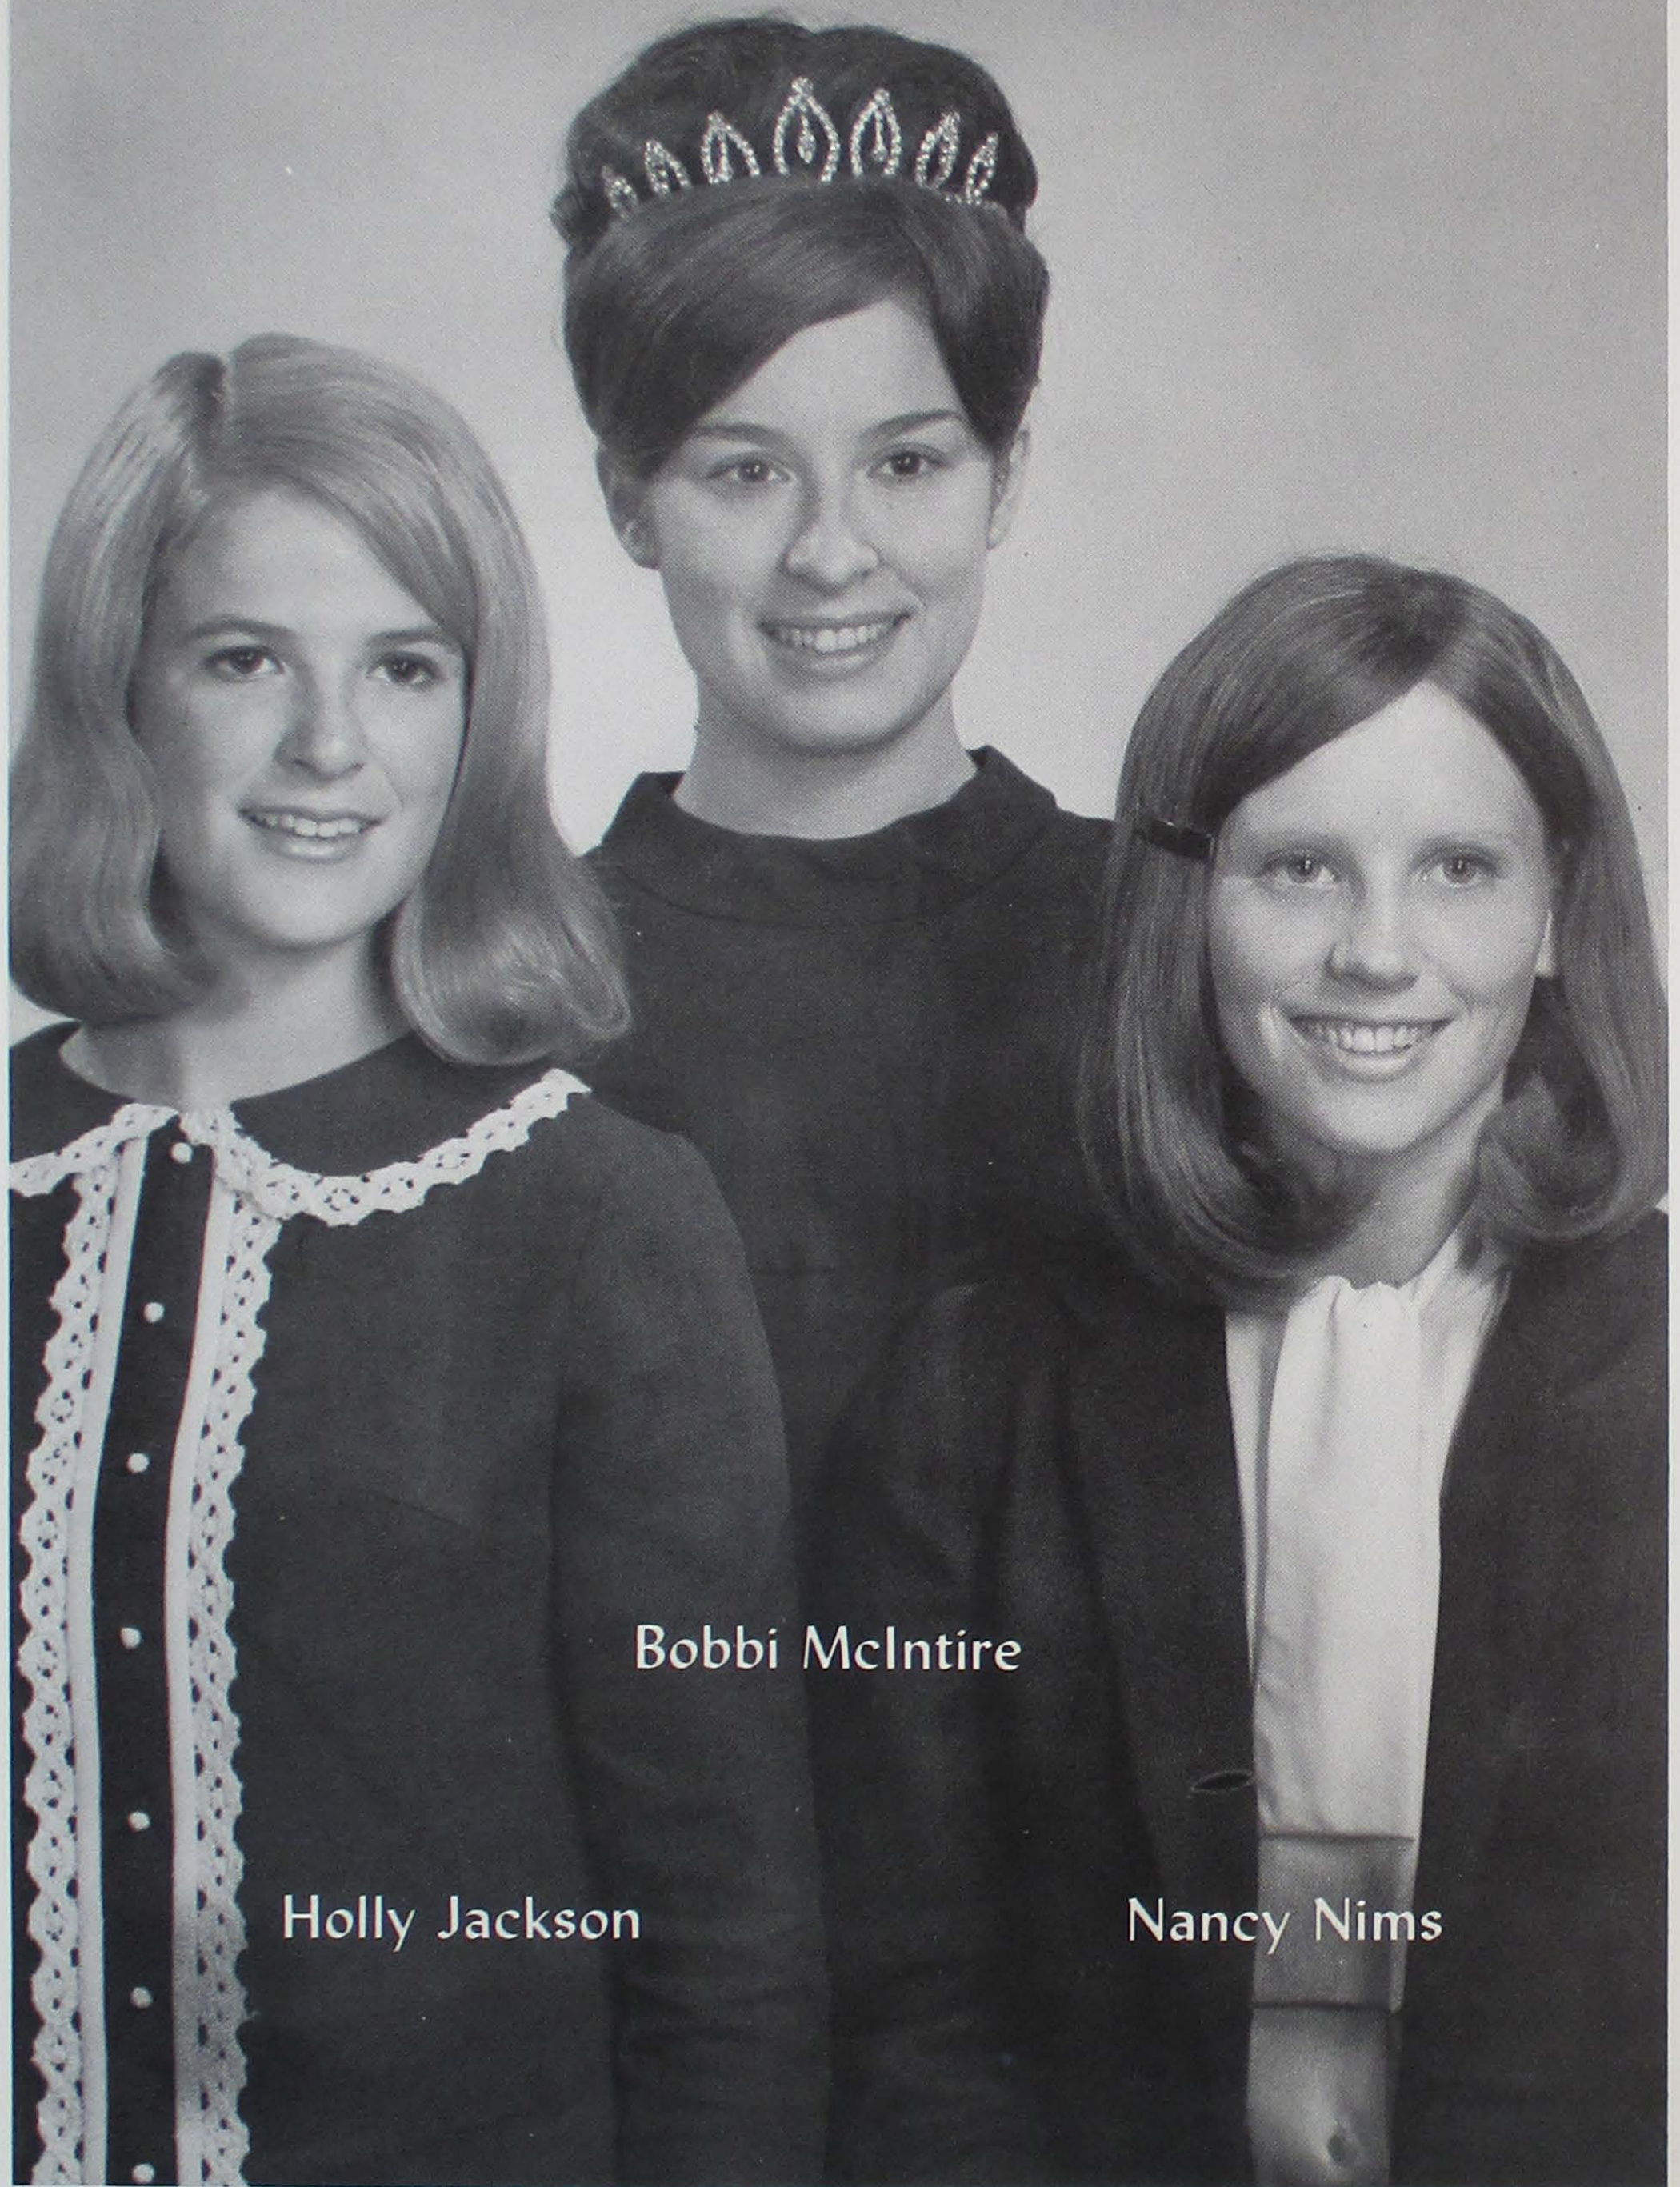

THE CROWNING of the Homecoming Queen took place at the Pep Assembly Thursday afternoon. Queen Bobbi McIntire, dressed in one of the football uniforms, took part in the pep skit.

QUEEN BOBBI MCINTIRE and attendants Nancy Nims and Holly Jackson were escorted by Lindy Buck, John Mathison and Mike Foreman.

Career Night

The evening of November 22 found Ames High students dutifully back in school attending the annual Career Night. Career Night began with a fifteen-minute homeroom period during which Dr. Ray Bryan spoke to the students. After this homeroom session students attended two forty-minute periods to hear representatives speaking on seventy-seven professions. Because of the extra time spent at Career Night students were dismissed the following day at noon for Thanksgiving Vacation.

KENNETH CARLANDER, a professor of biology at Iowa State, speaking on conservation and wildlife, was a guest at Career Night.

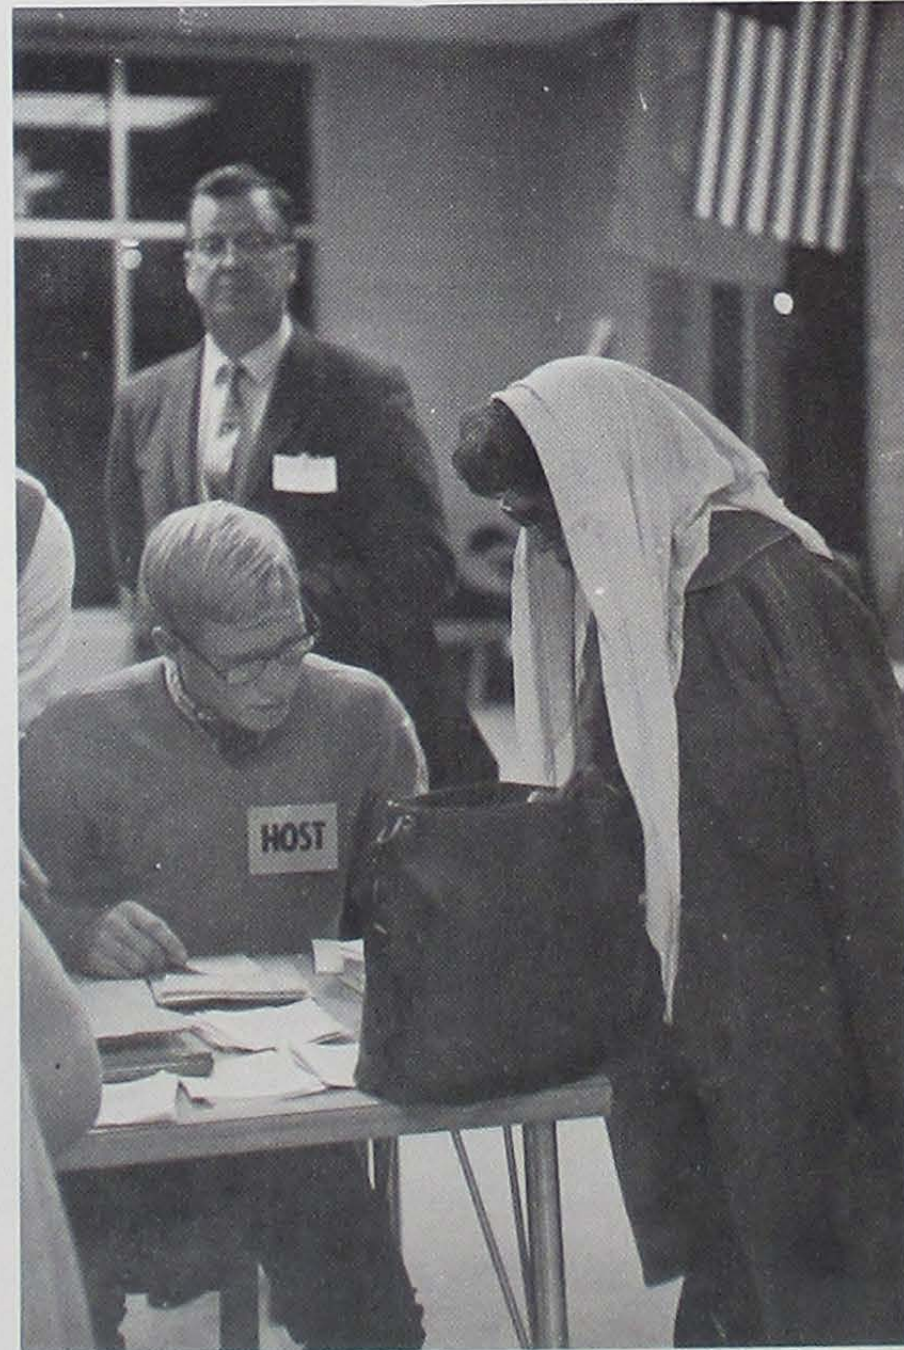

MRS. VANDECAR explains to parents the materials used in French.

Parent's Night

Parent's Night brought parents to school, instead of the students for a change. The parents first stopped at their child's home-room and then attended a ten-minute version of each of his classes. In these class periods teachers outlined the main objectives of the particular course and were able to meet with the parents.

STUDENT HOSTS welcomed parents and helped find lost schedules.

Nomination

December, 1966, brought one week of frustration, excitement, and exhaustion to the students of Ames High. This was, of course, campaign week. Vying for the positions of student body president and vice-president were Denny Bappe and Terry Guy, Mark Boden and John Wall, Lindy Buck and Mark Hamilton, Gary Grabau and Mark Johnson, Ron Johnson and Gerry Neal, Bruce Stoltenberg and Gary Zmolek, and Mike Wiser and Bill Haeder.

Primary

The primary held Wednesday, December 14, narrowed the race to Lindy Buck and Mark Hamilton, Gary Grabau and Mark Johnson, and Ron Johnson and Gerry Neal. The main platform points of the three candidates were: Buck—financial support of fan buses to out-of-town events, advance assignment lists; Grabau—sending cheerleaders to cheerleading clinics, improved lighting in the parking lot; Johnson—improved intramurals, reduced student council committees.

Election

As Friday, election day, neared, preparations for the big assembly were made: speeches were combed for the right effect, posters were drawn to perfection; and humorous touches added. After the speeches were presented, an impromptu question was asked of the candidates. The polls were open all day Friday for student voting. # New gym for assemblies

Assemblies

During the first semester, until the gym reached completion, few assemblies were held. These assemblies included pep assemblies, the election assembly, and the State Department assembly. The State Department assembly was special as Ames High was selected as one of the few schools in the state to have this presentation. Two awards assemblies were held in the spring—one to honor athletics and the other to honor academics. Assemblies were student planned by the Student Council sponsored Assembly Committee, composed of a chairman from Student Council and members chosen at large from the student body.

U.S. FOREIGN POLICY was the topic of discussion when a group of people from the State Department came to Ames High. Ames High was one of the specially chosen high schools in the state of Iowa to have this assembly presented.

Christmas at AHS

Christmas was many things at AHS. It was a trip by the Girls' Club and Boys' Club to the County Home and gifts to foster children. It was a clothes drive to aid the children of Appalachia, sponsored by Student Council. It was a Mistletoe Party and a Christmas formal. It was everything for which the Yuletide stands.

Christmas Formal

In spite of the blizzard that came to town on December 28, a large crowd turned out for the annual Christmas Formal. Couples began the evening's agenda by attending various coketail parties and then arrived at the Union's Sun Room for the dance. Blue and silver stars under blue lighting formed the decorations for the theme, "Montinique." New to the formal this year were a king and queen, Ron Watson and Holly Jackson, elected by the couples at the dance. The king and queen were crowned during intermission and took their places at the thrones provided during the entertainment. As the dance drew to a close at midnight, couples were off to post-formal parties that ended the magical "Montinique" evening.

Students help run school smoothly

Fire squad

The Fire Squad, sponsored by Mr. Covey and Mr. Enquist, is a student enforcement agency. The boys that serve on Fire Squad are assigned duty in the cafeteria to watch for crowding and other small transgressions of the students. Fire Squad, however, is always on watch to keep things running smoothly in AHS.

BACK TO WORK—Fire drills were frequent, if irregular. Time in was noticeably longer than time out.

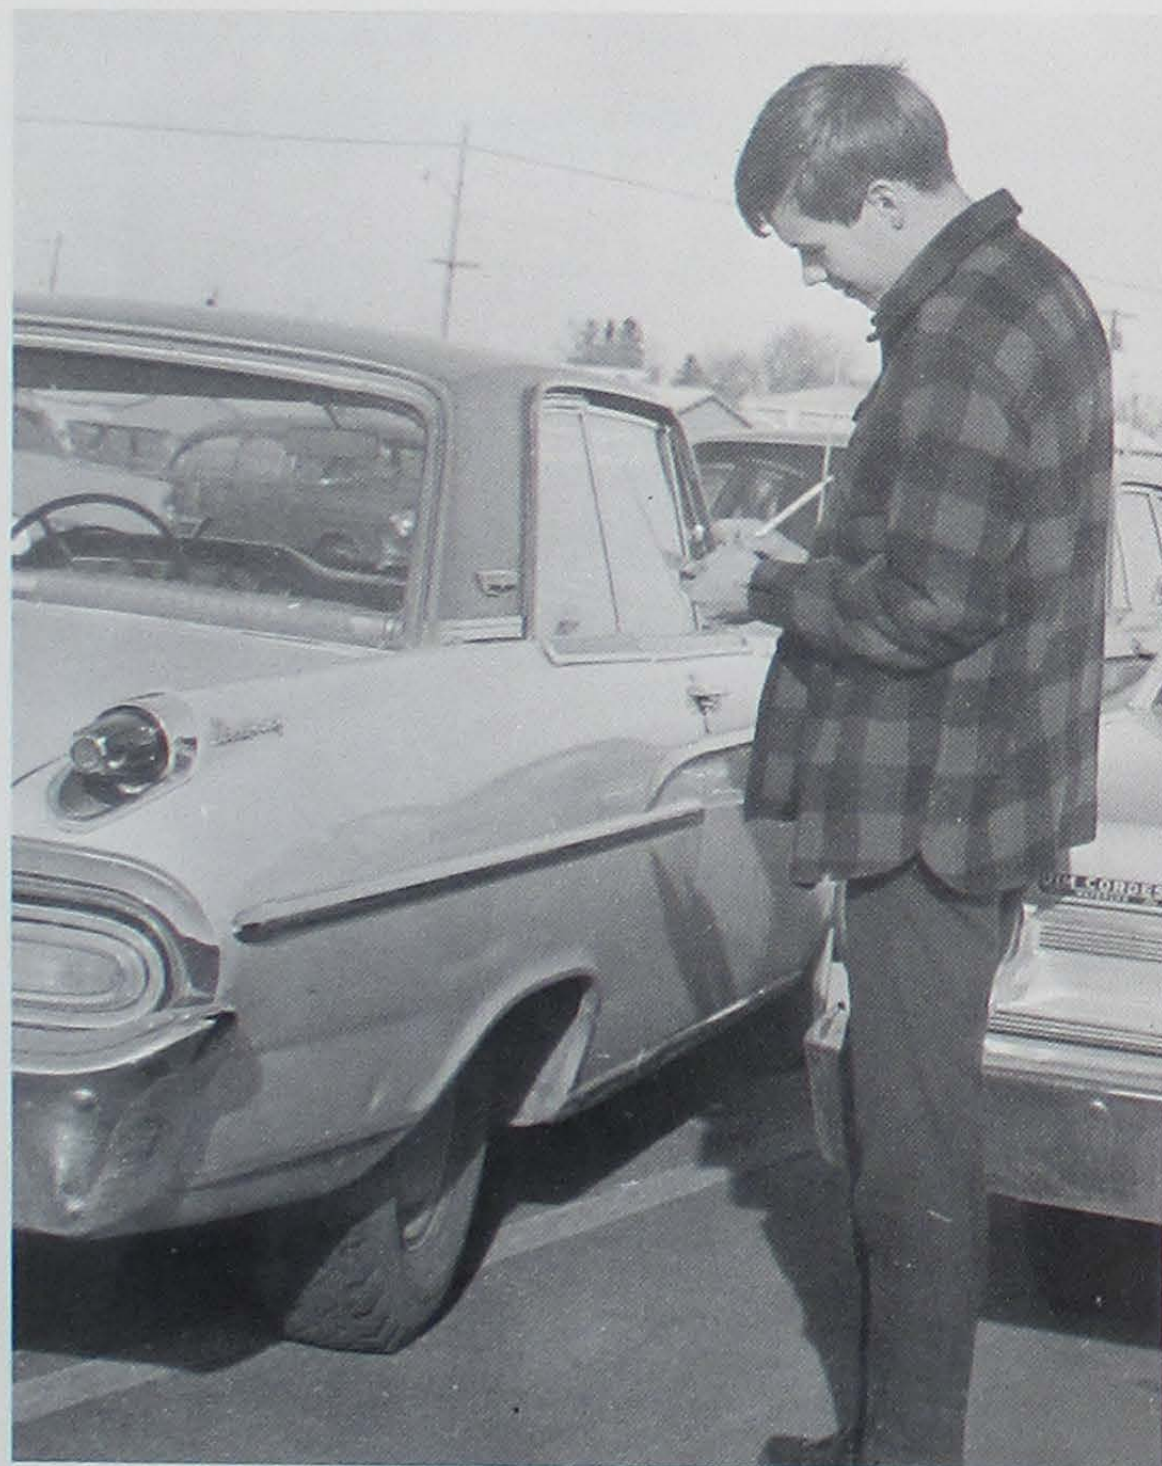

AN APPEAL BOARD, including John Carpenter, Mike Wiser, Denny Bappe, Greg Mulhall and Steve Lovely, was set up this fall by Fire Squad. It was the responsibility of this group of Fire Squad members to consider any appeals on traffic tickets given in the parking lot.

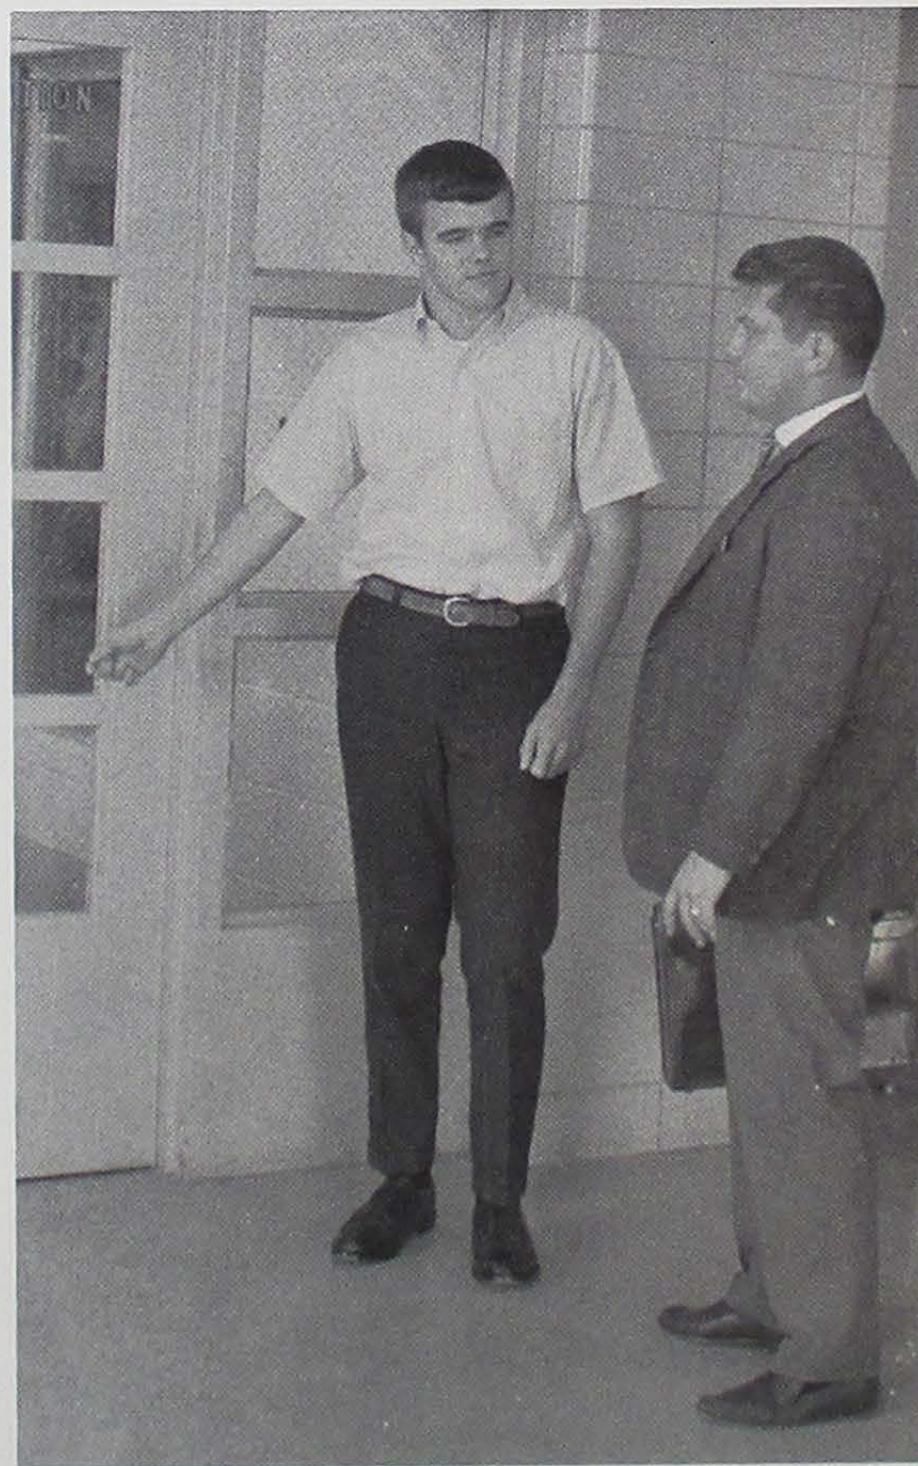

TRAFFIC TICKETS were introduced at AHS this year. Fire Squad members, such as Ken Rozeboom pictured here, gave up their study halls to issue traffic tickets in the parking lot to illegally parked cars.

Hall monitors

The hall monitors, under the supervision of Mr. Heideman, are stationed in the corridors during classes. These students check passes, act as receptionists for strangers in the building, and keep traffic quiet in the halls.

HALL MONITORS, like Steve Wells pictured here, gave up their study halls to perform their many duties, including acting as receptionists for people visiting Ames High.

Student council

Student Council is designed to give students an opportunity to participate in a democratic governmental organization. The Ames High student council is made up of a representative from each homeroom, the foreign exchange student, and the presidents of Key Club and Pep Club. Ron Watson assumed the many responsibilities of directing student council as first semester student body president.

During the first semester, Student Council enacted several of the planks in Watson's platform including showing movies at the after-game parties and providing for a trophy case in the new gym. Plans were also made for a student supply store.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL of the student body, including Polly Peterson, secretary; Ron Watson, president; Dick Carr, treasurer; and (not pictured) Chris Davis, vice-president, decided the agenda for meetings, discussed problems of the Student Council and possible solutions.

ONE OF MR. EVERETT RITLAND'S many duties as vice-principal is acting as sponsor of student council. He represents the faculty's ideas to the students.

Second semester

The coming of second semester brought the beginning of Ron Johnson's duties as president of the student body and the putting of the planks of his campaign platform into action. The number of Student Council standing committees was reduced from ten to seven to help streamline their work. One of the major projects apart from regular business was the sponsoring of Ames High's first computer-date dance.

PRESIDENT RON JOHNSON accepted the swimmers' CIC championship trophy, the first trophy ever received in the new gym, at the initiation assembly.

Girls' and Boys' Clubs carry on AHS traditions

Girls' Boys' Clubs

Girls' Club sponsored the Big Sister-Little Sister program, the Sophomore Style Show, the Junior Dad-Daughter Date Night, and the Senior Mother-Daughter tea. The club also held their annual Christmas spray sale and supported a foster child in the Philippines. This year the co-chairmen of Girls' were Betsy Bath and Barb Hansen.

The main activity of Boys' Club, headed by Barry Russell, was to run the concession stands at all the sports events. Boys' Club also held a Foster Child Drive for a young boy in South Viet Nam.

Nashville Exchange

This year Ames High had its first exchange in recent years with an out-of-state high school, Peabody Demonstration School of Nashville, Tennessee. The Peabody students came to Ames in December, and their visit was returned by Ames High in April. Both visits lasted for one week.

The Peabody students and sponsor, who stayed in the homes of Mary Lokken, Ann Johnson, Jim Walter, Don Wiser, Mary Hazen, and Mr. Ripp, attended classes with their hosts and told about their school at a student council meeting. They also attended several athletic events and an after-game party. A farm, ISU, the atomic Energy Commission, and the National Animal Disease Lab were places in the Ames community which the Peabody students visited.

Those representing Ames High in Nashville, also attended classes and student council as well as speaking at a school assembly. They visited historical sites, several colleges, the Columbia Broadcasting Studios, and the state capital buildings. Their trip ended with a school party in honor of the Ames representatives and a performance of the Grand Ole Opry.

THE AMES EXCHANGEES and their hosts made a trip to the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson. This wellhouse is located on the estate.

Drama students learn the art of play production

Drama Classes

Drama classes are divided into two sections—beginning and advanced. In beginning drama, students make miniature flats. They also study the history of the theater and learn the technical aspects of play production. Dialogues and monologues were the major studies of those in advanced drama classes. Through this study, the students gained experience in combining voice and breath control, expression, and body movements.

'The Imaginary Invalid' is fall play

The drama department's fall play was The Imaginary Invalid by Moliere. It was the first play of the season and the first one under the direction of Mr. Ronald Zitzlsperger. The play is a farce which pokes fun at the medical profession. Argan (Steve Jones) is a man who is continually paying out large sums of money to have his imaginary illnesses cured. His ridiculous beliefs that he is sick and in need of medical attention cause some odd and very funny family conflicts. But the problems are solved in the end when his family performs a ritual which makes Argan think that he himself is a doctor and is now able to cure his own illnesses. And, as in all farcical comedies, everyone lives happily ever after.

STEVE JONES AND MARY JANE SCHOLTES worked long hours under the hot lights to perfect their leading roles.

ACTORS, BACKSTAGE CREWS, AND DIRECTORS are all required to make a play run smoothly.

THE ACTORS parade down Main street in their costumes to publicize the play.

THE PHYSICISTS

A "physicist" could be easily identified by leftover make-up, unfinished homework, and baggy eyes, as Ames High's Senior Class Play, The Physicists, by playwright, Friedrich Durrenmat, represented many hours of hard work by Directors Zitzlsperger and Austin, many actors and actresses, and technicians. All worked towards their purpose of exposing the dangers of science if in the wrong hands.

Vocal music groups attract 133 student singers

Vocal music

The vocal music department, under the direction of Mr. Al Wiser, was made up of several large singing groups including the choir, mixed chorus, and girls' glee, as well as a few small singing groups such as the madrigal and quartets. Two of these quartets made All-State and were asked to perform at various functions several times during the year.

The vocal music department gave two public concerts this year. They also gave several private performances such as singing for the Women's Club at Christmas.

Football fans entertained by band

Marching band

Fall was marching band season at Ames High, with the band members braving mud, rain, and cold weather to present the halftime entertainment at all five of the home football games. They also traveled to Newton, financed by the sale of band candy, to play in the halftime presentation there, for the annual marching band trip.

TWO DRUM MAJORS, Jan Svec and Dave Scott, were used this year in marching band instead of only one as was used in previous years.

DRUM MAJORETTE Gay Renee Nieman and the twirlers, Diane Erickson, Debby Pappas, Candy Wilson, Claudia DuBois, Debbie Baldner, Marge Stohlmeyer, Diane Backous, and Randi Rolf, lead the Ames High marching band down the track and onto the field.

MR. HOMER GARTZ assisted Mr. Day with marching band in the fall and directed stage band during the remaining part of the year.

FLYING WEDGES were one of the more difficult marching band formations during halftime at football games this year.

THE BIG EIGHT CONFERENCE, which Ames will join in 1968, was saluted during the halftime of the West Waterloo game by this figure eight formation. Head twirler Gay Renee Neiman performed in the center of the formation.

Sophomore band

Sixty-five students were selected to be members of the Ames High sophomore band. This band participated in the Tri-City Concert with the concert band. Stage band combined with the sophomore band to present a concert in the spring.

Concert band

At the end of football season tryouts were held for concert band. Eighty-five musicians were selected to play with a majority of them being upper classmen. Concert band participated in the Tri-City Concert in Ames with bands from Webster City and Fort Dodge. A full day of practice together was followed by the concert in the evening. An annual spring concert was also presented by concert band.

Orchestra

The orchestra performed publicly several times this year. Besides three regular instrumental concerts, the orchestra accompanied the choir at the vocal music department's spring concert. The orchestra also played at the dedication of the school on February 19.

The orchestra, under the new direction this year of Mr. Stanley Closs, met three times a week. Mr. Closs also directed several small groups of strings.

Three members of orchestra went to All-State this year. These musicians were Christie Ulmer, violin; Tom Metzler, violin; and Mike Hibbs, viola.

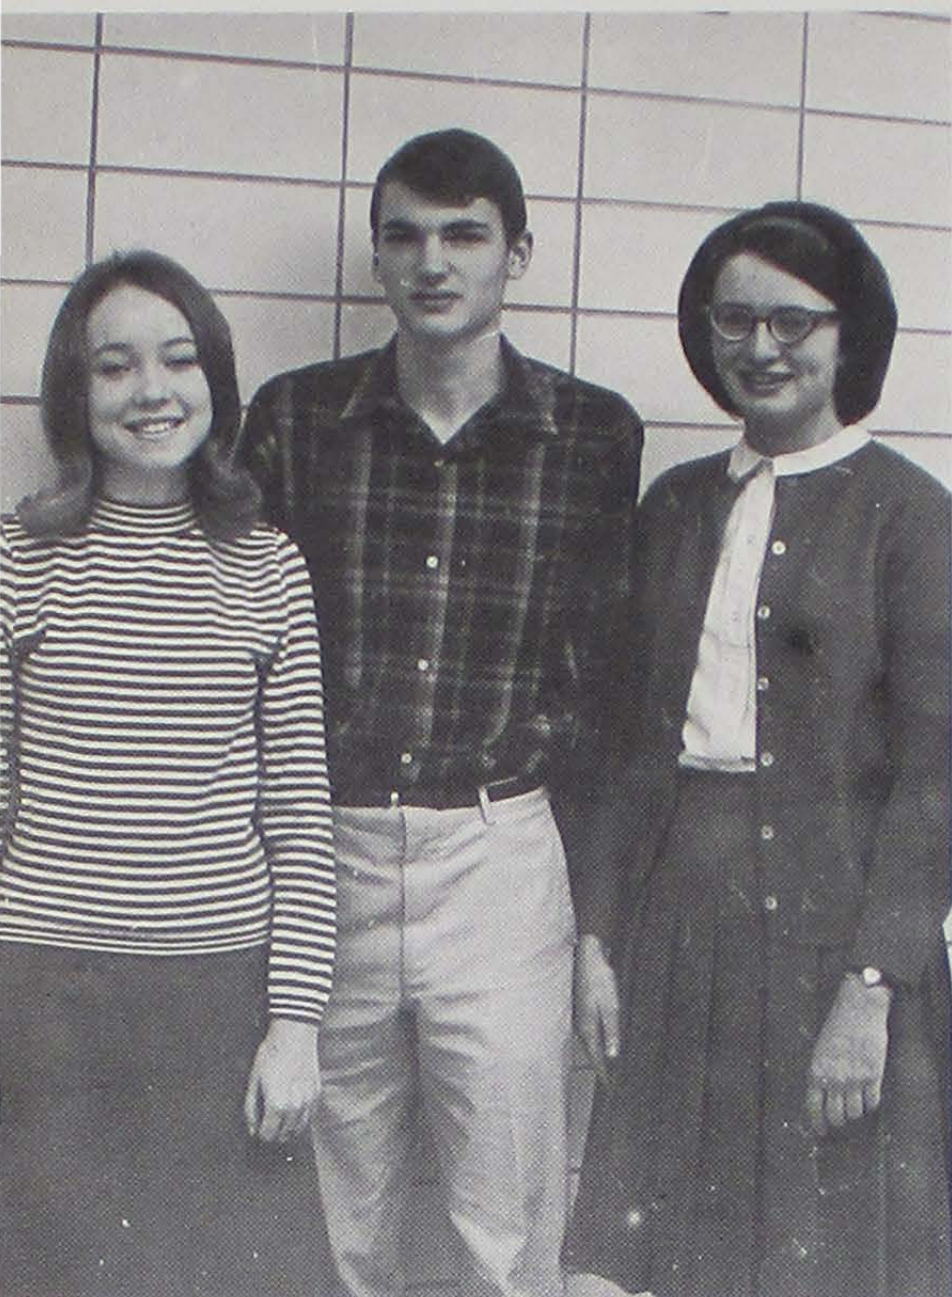

The orchestra officers of 1966-67 were Jim Rundle, president; Christie Ulmer, vice-president; and Betty Sivesind, secretary-treasurer.

COMBINING THEIR SINGING ability with their knowledge of German, the German Glee Club entertained at club festivities.

THE WEIHNACHTSMAN, German for Santa Claus, paid a visit to the club bringing gifts and poetry as well as punishment for lazy students.

German Club

The German Club celebrated a German Christmas this year with a German version of Santa Claus as guest of honor. Other meetings offered such things as the showing of slides from Germany and a talent show. An end-of-the-year banquet in the spring, at which officers for the following year were elected, concluded the year's activities.

A WELCOME ADDITION to German Club this year was Christiane Bauer, a native of Hamburg. Here she explains some of the customs of her German family.

FRENCH CLUB MEMBERS caroled at Ames homes.

CHRISTMASTIME BROUGHT food and fun to French Club members.

French Club

AHS French Club members were guests in Marshalltown this year at the annual French Fete. Other activities of the club included caroling at Christmas. Bakesales were held and candy bars sold to earn money for the spring banquet.

A PARTY AT Laura Lowrie's home provided a casual get-together for French students.

Spanish Club

Spanish Club began the year's activities with a wiener roast and a Spanish hootenanny. Other programs included slides of South America shown by a Spanish priest, a Christmas masquerade with piñatas and entertainment, and a final cook-out party.

A PEANUTS SKIT complete with Snoopy's ears and Linus' blanket was presented both in Latin and English.

Journalism

The Web, published every Tuesday evening in the Ames Daily Tribune, is the end result of a great deal of hard work performed by the Ames High journalism classes. In the beginning the Web is only a group of ideas. As the week goes on those ideas are carried out into stories, headlines, layouts and pictures. After this initial work has been completed everything must be copyread, revised, and made ready for the final draft. The complete layout is then sent to the Tribune which sets the page. Tuesday morning the proof-reading is done by late-bird students.

Second semester

The journalism classes are run by a very simple and efficient rule: Mrs. Bauske is in charge of the classes but the classes are in charge of the WEB. Each class elects its own editor. Further assignments are made by the editor on the basis of each student's preference. Although each student is assigned a particular job, each becomes acquainted with the other aspects of journalism during the semester.

A TIME OUT from WEB finds Mike Kitchell, Janice Lyttle, and Kay Skrdla at the Tribune looking over tables of newly set type.

'67 SPIRIT sets sales record

The formula for a successful SPIRIT might go like this:

Take an all-out contract sales subscription campaign which brought an order for 1,021 SPIRITS, topping a previous record by 100;

Mix: 9 gallons of developer, 9 gallons of fix, 120 rolls and 300 feet of 35 mm film, and 800 sheets of photo paper.

Add: hours and hours of hard work in and out of class, reams and reams of copy, and many mysterious operations, such as drawing layouts, counting heads, and cropping pictures . . .

But no formula can show the fun that goes on and the joy the staff gets from watching the book grow.

Debate

Interscholastic competition, preceded by extensive research in books, magazines, and government pamphlets, challenged the thirteen members of the debate squad again this year. Sponsored by Miss Fox and having been divided into four-member novice and varsity teams, the debaters were able to express their opinions and knowledge on the subject "Resolved: The Foreign Aid Program of the United States Should Be Limited to Non-Military Assistance." Novice teams were for beginning debaters, while the Varsity teams consisted of those who had had experience. Team members took either an affirmative or negative viewpoint and debated the issue with persons from other schools with opposite opinions.

Key Club is a service organization sponsored by the Ames Kiwanis Club. The boys in Key Club help with Kiwanis activities as well as many projects of their own. These included planting trees as a windbreak for the stadium and shoveling snow to earn money to buy flags for the homerooms at AHS.

A major project of FHA this year was reverse trick-or-treating at a retirement home. Other activities included a Dad-Daughter Date Night and an April Fools party for new members. The club sold fruitcakes to earn money to support these projects. At their regular meetings the girls learned to knit and heard a speaker on cosmetology.

GRA, intramurals attract many

THE MODERN DANCE CLUB worked out choreography for their spring show at after-school practices.

Girls' athletics

In addition to GRA activities, girls had an opportunity to participate in synchronized swimming and modern dance clubs for the first time this year. GRA met twice each week for competition in sports including volleyball, bowling, and basketball. The major officers of the GRA cabinet were Mary Poeckes, president; Barb Hansen, vice-president; and Layne Hamilton, secretary-treasurer. The club was sponsored by Miss Wendy Foote. The Synchronettes and the Modern Dance Club each practiced once a week under the direction of Mrs. Anne Jacobson. Their work was climaxed by a program in the spring.

FORM, RHYTHM, CONCENTRATION ... the Synchronettes practiced hard to create a water ballet.

BASKETBALL PROVED to be the most popular sport in GRA. Ten active teams competed for the championship title.

A WIDE VARIETY of sports offered something for everyone in intramurals. This year, for the first time, boys could enjoy a refreshing swim after school.

Boys' intramurals

The coming of the new gym and swimming pool brought the AHS intramural program back to life after several years of limited activity. This year, boys participated in pass and touch football, swimming, basketball, volleyball, weightlifting, golf, tennis, and horseshoes under the intramural program.

THE NEW GYM gave all boys an opportunity to participate in basketball.

Cheersquad

A lot of hard work is exchanged for the honor of being a cheerleader. These girls are responsible for keeping the school notified of the results of all meets and games. Their most important job, however, is keeping the spirit high at AHS. This job includes making announcements and signs, doing cafeteria skits, and cheering at pep assemblies. The three cheersquads—football-basketball, wrestling, and sophomore—also meet several times a week for practices.

SINGING FOR A VICTORY, the cheersquad generated enthusiasm and entertained the student body with this Christmas-time cafeteria skit. Frequent songs over the PA system also helped liven up homeroom periods.

The large section of girls seen at AHS athletic events is the Pep Club. These girls provide not only their voices, but also their talents to keep the spirit high. Pep signs before each game and fund-raising bakesales have become an important part of AHS life. The cabinet this year included Kay Forsythe, Nancy Nims, Marilyn Sealock, and Martha Stober.

Young cross country team finishes second in state and both CIC meets

THE MOST CONSISTENT RUNNER on the Little Cyclone team this year proved to be David Boyd, who finished first for Ames in both conference meets.

ERRANT CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNERS frequently turned up at the water fountain. After twelve to eighteen 440's and several miles of "fartlek" the thought of a cool drink sometimes became irresistible.

DETERMINATION AND HARD WORK helped Jim Rundle finish first or second for Ames in three meets. His teammates acknowledged his leadership by electing him captain at the close of the season.

Cross Country

Mr. Harlan Milliken took over as track coach this year following Mr. Covey's retirement last spring. Along with cross-country, he handled the fall track squad.

The first meet of the season was the Conference Mile team race, held at Marshalltown on September 17th. Dave Boyd finished third and Jim Rundle took fifth, but the Little Cyclones were overcome by an experienced Marshalltown team and had to settle for second place. A week later Ames placed third in the state meet at Cedar Falls as they were edged out of second by only one point.

The next two weeks saw the team preparing for its first cross-country meet, the Mike Augustine Invitational at Grandview in Des Moines. Ames finished third of fourteen teams, being defeated only by D.M. Roosevelt and Marshalltown. The Little Cyclones again gave the Bobcats a close challenge at the CIC Cross-Country, but a strange course, cold, stiff wind, and strong Marshalltown team were too much to handle as Ames finished second. The last race of the season was the state meet, held at Grandview on October 24th. Greg Dengler placed sixth, and Dave Powell was eighth to lead the Ames team to second. This concluded a generally successful season that was marked by the consistent determination and good sportsmanship which the team displayed.

DISPLAYING THEIR FORM, Dave Powell and Gerry Neal come down the stretch. The Ames runners consistently ran as a team as evidenced by the fact that the first five runners usually finished with in a spread of only six or seven places.

Ames wins bell back from Boone

Football

The Cyclone Gridders ended the season with a 2-6-1 overall record and a 1-4 conference record. The highlight of the season was the single conference win. The Little Cyclones had to put together their best performance of the season to beat Boone. The Victory Bell finally came back to Ames High after four years of frustration.

Captain Ron Watson was named to the first all-CIC team. Junior Chris Haugen was placed on the second team and seniors Dave Kinker, Mike Beman, and Chris Davis were on the third team.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in four years the Victory Bell found its home in AHS.

HEAD COACH CECIL SPATCHER plans the second half strategy at the tense Lincoln game.

The Cyclones opened the first season in the new stadium impressively against Des Moines Tech, leading at half-time 19-0. However the Engineers came back in the second half and Ames had to fight for a 19-14 win.

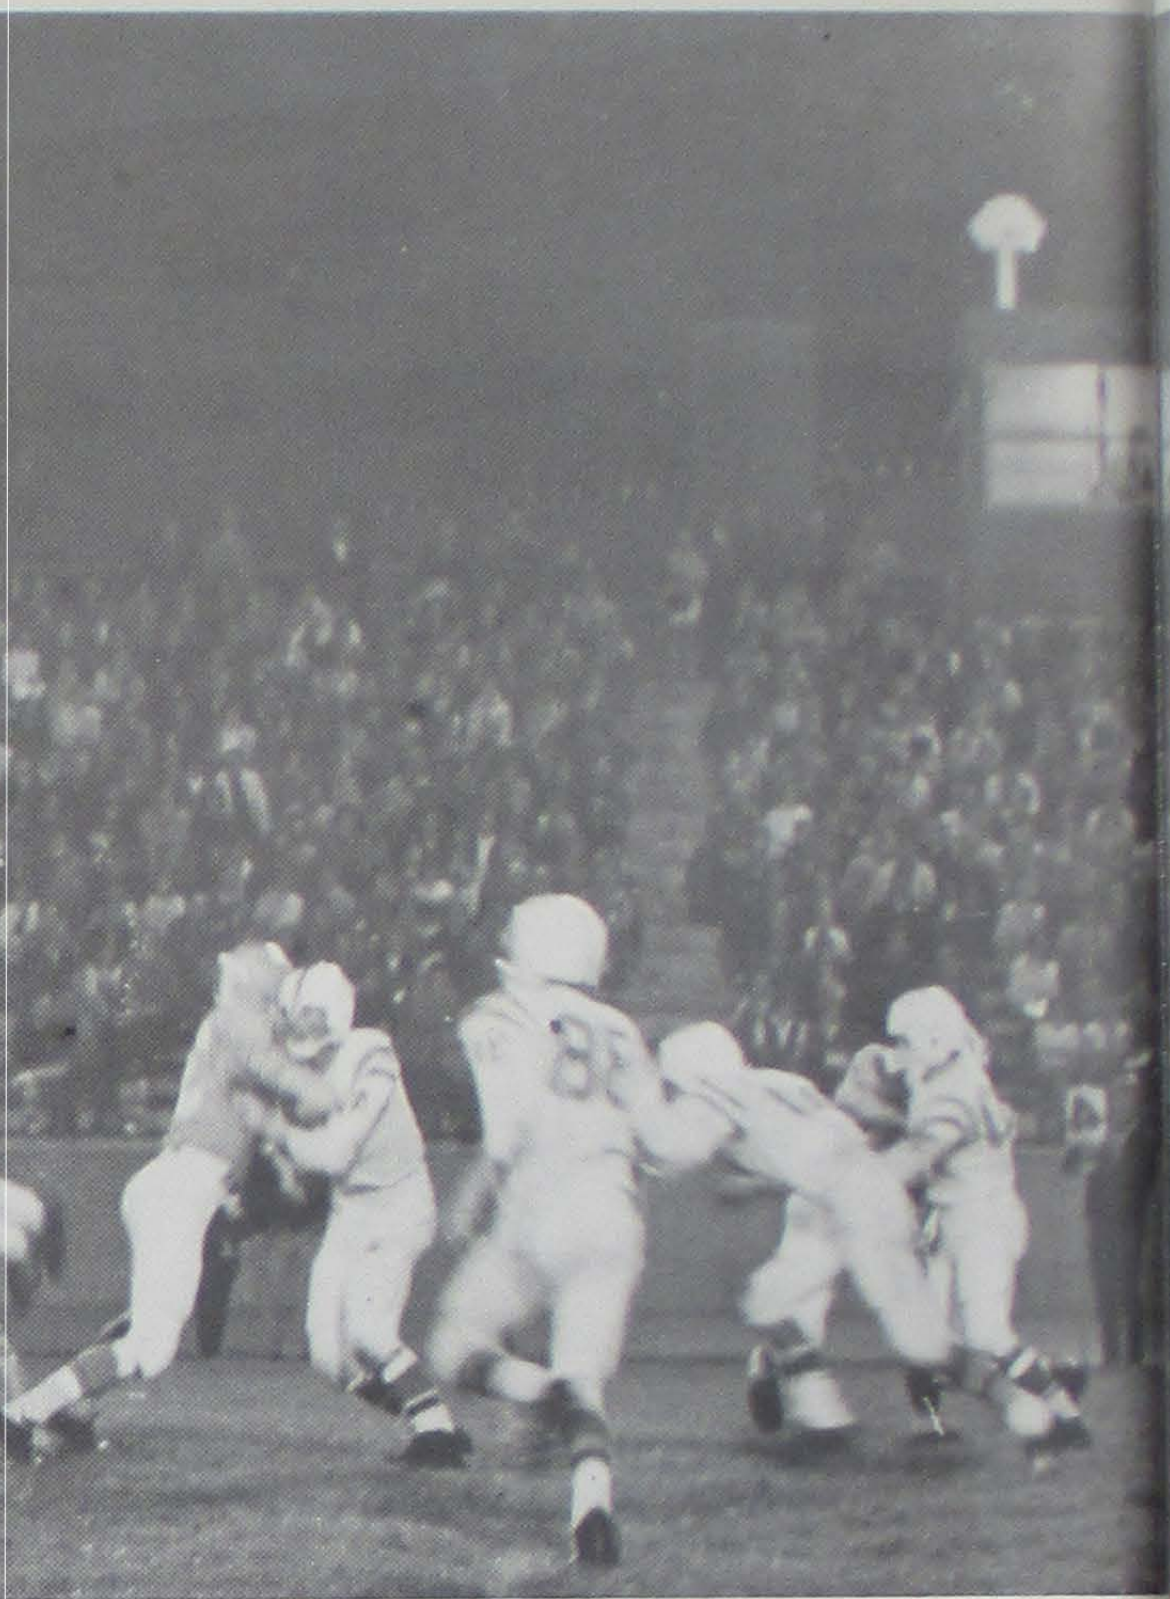

Ames traveled to Oskaloosa the following week. The Little Cyclones matched touchdowns with the Indians, but extra points told the story as Ames came out on the short end of a 14-12 score.

Coach Spatcher, assisted by Line Coach Mendenhall and End Coach Impehoven, worked the squad overtime in preparation for the Boone game. The student body worked overtime, too, and spirit was in high gear on the night of the game. However, Boone High also brought an inspired team and cheering section. The game was fiercely fought and the teams left the field at half-time tied 0-0. The long drilling paid off in the second half as the Orange and Black put together two sustained drives and won, 14-0. The exuberant team lifted the coaches on their shoulders and retrieved the cherished victory bell from the Boone cheerleaders.

The last three games spelled disaster for the Orange and Black. They lost the homecoming game to Grinnell 20-7. They put up a good fight, but lost to conference champion Newton 13-0. In the final game the Roosevelt Rough Riders trounced Ames 35-6.

A LARGE AND ENERGETIC CHEERING SECTION turned out to cheer the Little Cyclones on in the Homecoming game.

Sophomores have 7-1 season record

Sophomore football

The sophomore football team completed an excellent season under the new leadership of Coach Jim Friest, assisted by George Duvall. They showed superb balance as they ended the season with a 7-1 record. The tough defense held all opponents to a combined total of 44 points while the steady offense was scoring 183 points. Only two teams were able to score more than one touchdown on the Cyclones. East made three touchdowns, but the sophs easily outdistanced them 35-18. The Little Cyclones were undefeated until the final game when the Roosevelt Rough Riders came out on top 14-7.

Swimming

Ames swimmers completed a highly successful season for their second year of competition. Coach Fitzgerald's first year at Ames High and the team's first year in the new pool resulted in a dual record of eight wins and three losses and a conference championship.

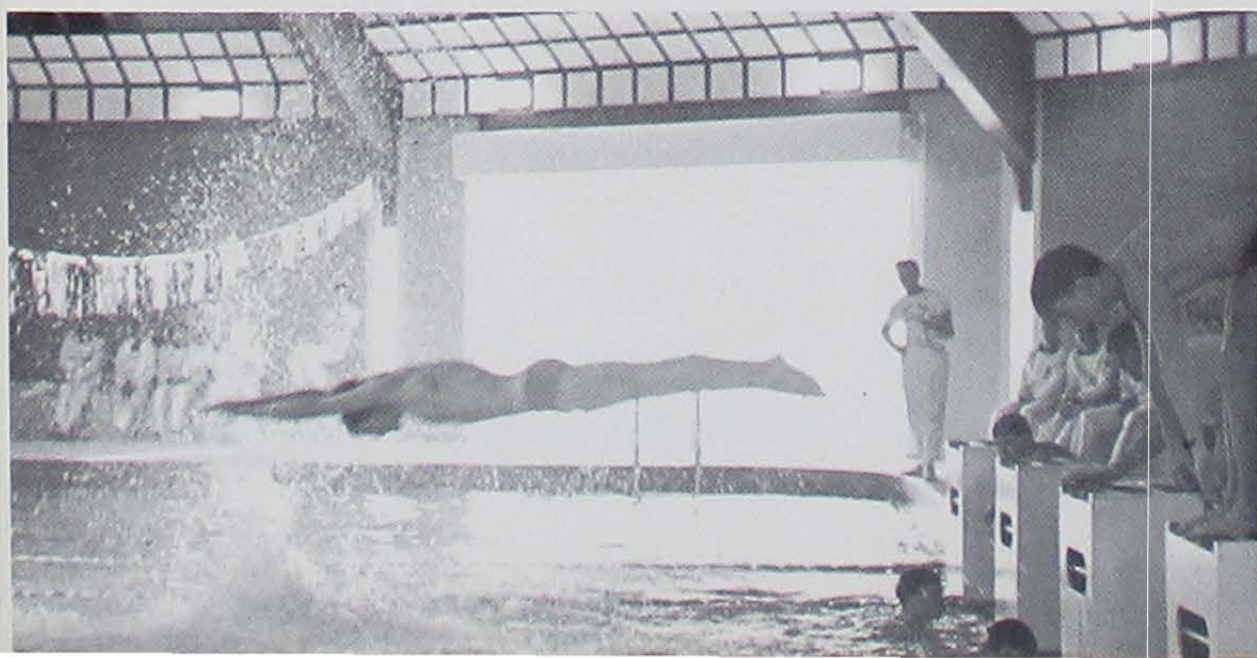

The Little Cyclones lost their first meet of the season 55 1/2-39 1/2 at Newton, but evened their record by defeating Iowa City 71-24 in their first home meet. Ames won every event except for a rules technicality as they downed Boone 71-23. Ames next lost to Roosevelt (38-57) before edging Lincoln in the final event 48-47. Marshalltown was the Little Cyclones' next victim (52-43). Ames trounced Tech 70-25, and then avenged an earlier loss as they defeated Newton, 62-33.

Ames scored in every event as they captured their first CIC title at Marshalltown. Oslund and Sayers had two firsts each, Pratt one, and Lindy Buck repeated as diving champ to lead the Little Cyclones. Ames then defeated North (68-27) and Boone (58-37) before losing their last dual meet to Fort Dodge, 39-56.

The Little Cyclones placed third in district competition at Cedar Rapids as they qualified nine swimmers for the state meet. Ames showed well against the stiff competition, placing thirteenth.

Basketball

The Little Cyclones' 1966-1967 basketball season gave fans much more excitement than the 12-6 record shows. The record, with a third-place finish in the CIC, does not tell the whole story. The wins included ones over some of the top-ranked teams in the state. Cyclone come-from-behind victories time after time left fans in a happy frenzy at the final buzzer. Wins over Marshalltown, Des Moines Roosevelt and Des Moines North helped Ames work its way up the polls in the last half of the season.

Also this season, the Orange and Black finally found a permanent home. After having played their "home" games at Central Junior High and at the Iowa State University Armory, the Cyclones finished out the season in the newly-completed gymnasium.

THE CYCLONES AND THE BOBCATS square off for the jump at the opening of the game. The Ames-Marshalltown game was one of the most hotly contested of the season.

Little Cyclones, record perfect in new gym

The Cyclones' first of many heroic moments came during Christmas vacation against the number 1-ranked Des Moines Roosevelt Rough Riders. Roosevelt was undefeated to that point, while the Cyclones had a 4-2 record, including an 18 point loss to Marshalltown. Ames kept up with the taller Des Moines team and pulled ahead to stay in the final minutes, winning 63-56.

Highly-rated Des Moines North was Ames' first opponent in the long-awaited new gym. Cyclones were underdogs again, but rose to the occasion and gave a large, spirited home crowd an exciting show. After being behind at half time, the Orange and Black stormed back and won in the last ten seconds 73-70.

The following week Ames set out to revenge its worst loss of the season and keep its record perfect on the home court, against Marshalltown. The first half looked like a repeat of the last meeting with the Bobcats, as the Cyclones trailed by 11 points. With a spectacular second-half surge, Ames came out on top, 74-66.

Boone traveled to Ames for the last regular season home game. It was also Ames High School championship night. All former state champions came back to be honored at the game. The team played like champions, too. They showed much improvement over their meeting against the Toreadors earlier in the season, in which Boone forced Ames into an overtime. Cyclones dominated play from the opening jump and romped on to a 85-53 win.

CENTER RON WATSON was sidelined part of the season with a foot injury.

DEADLY ACCURACY by Dick Gibbs kept Ames one step ahead of Marshalltown.

The sophomore basketball team finished with a 8-8 record. Although they were just at the .500 mark for the season, they did well with a 6-4 conference record, good for second place behind Marshalltown. Also receiving honors were Denny Bappe, Mike Beman, and Rick Engel.

Almost—but: Ames 2nd in state

State tournament

For 24 glorious minutes, the impossible was coming true: Ames led Iowa's superteam, Cedar Rapids Jefferson, by 12 points at the half of the final tournament game. But the odds finally caught up with the Little Cyclones; Ames lost, 72-71, in overtime.

The road to state had its ups and downs, but Ames picked up speed as the goal neared. In both district games Ames got off to slow starts but quickly got control again, winning over Boone, 74-61, and Ankeny, 87-56.

Substate play brought considerably stiffer competition and the Little Cyclones needed strong finishes to earn a berth in the state tournament. Upset-minded Fort Dodge got off to a fast start and led at the half by ten points. It wasn't until the end of the third quarter that Ames started to storm back to win, 57-55. Emotion ran high as the Little Cyclones faced Grinnell, the only team to beat Ames twice during the regular season, each time by only two points. Both teams shot cold percentages. At the final buzzer Ames had revenge, 38-37, and got into the state tournament for the second time in two years.

In the quarterfinals the Cyclones were able to breathe easier as they outclassed Jefferson, 72-40.

According to newspaper predictions, the Little Cyclones were destined to lose the rest of their tournament games. But in the semifinals against Des Moines North, Ames won going away, 73-54.

The high school office had a run on tickets for the final game. Some enthusiastic students stayed in line all night in 10° weather to get tickets. By 4 a.m. more than 200 were waiting for the office to open.

SO CLOSE AND YET SO FAR, a disappointed Ames team accepts the second-place trophy.

SHORT MAN ON THE TEAM, Mike Beman shows that he can hold his own in the jump circle against Cedar Rapids Jefferson.

Newspaper reporters and radio commentators felt that the state championship game was going to be anticlimactic, with Ames, a team which had had a number of close calls throughout the tournament, playing Cedar Rapids Jefferson, the top team of Iowa. Cedar Rapids was ranked number one, had never lost to an Iowa team, and had beaten everyone in the tournament by a least 16 points. Cyclones had been underdogs before and in the championship game they were to see their proudest moment. Little Cyclones completely outran Cedar Rapids in the first half, leading by 12 points at halftime. Jefferson came back with their height advantage and shooting skill to tie the score at the end of regulation time, 65-65. In the first overtime in an Iowa state tournament championship game, the Little Cyclones lost, 72-71.

A crowd of 2500 came to the school that night to welcome home a second-place team that played like champions.

MR. ADAMS WAS A PROUD MAN as he spoke to a rally of supporters 2500 strong after the championship game.

Indoor Track

Track runs the year round at Ames High, and in the winter the program is known as indoor track. Starting during Christmas vacation, practices are held on week nights and Saturday mornings at the Iowa State indoor track in the basement of the men's gym. Although there are only two indoor meets, the Federation and State, both late in March, indoor track helps athletes to prepare for the spring season, which begins with warmer weather.

Along with the eight lettermen back from last year's state indoor championship team, about 75 boys were active in indoor track. Returning lettermen included: Chris Davis, Joe Hensing, Joe Hostetter, Larry Lasche, Gerry Neal, Steve Pierce, and Jim Rundle.

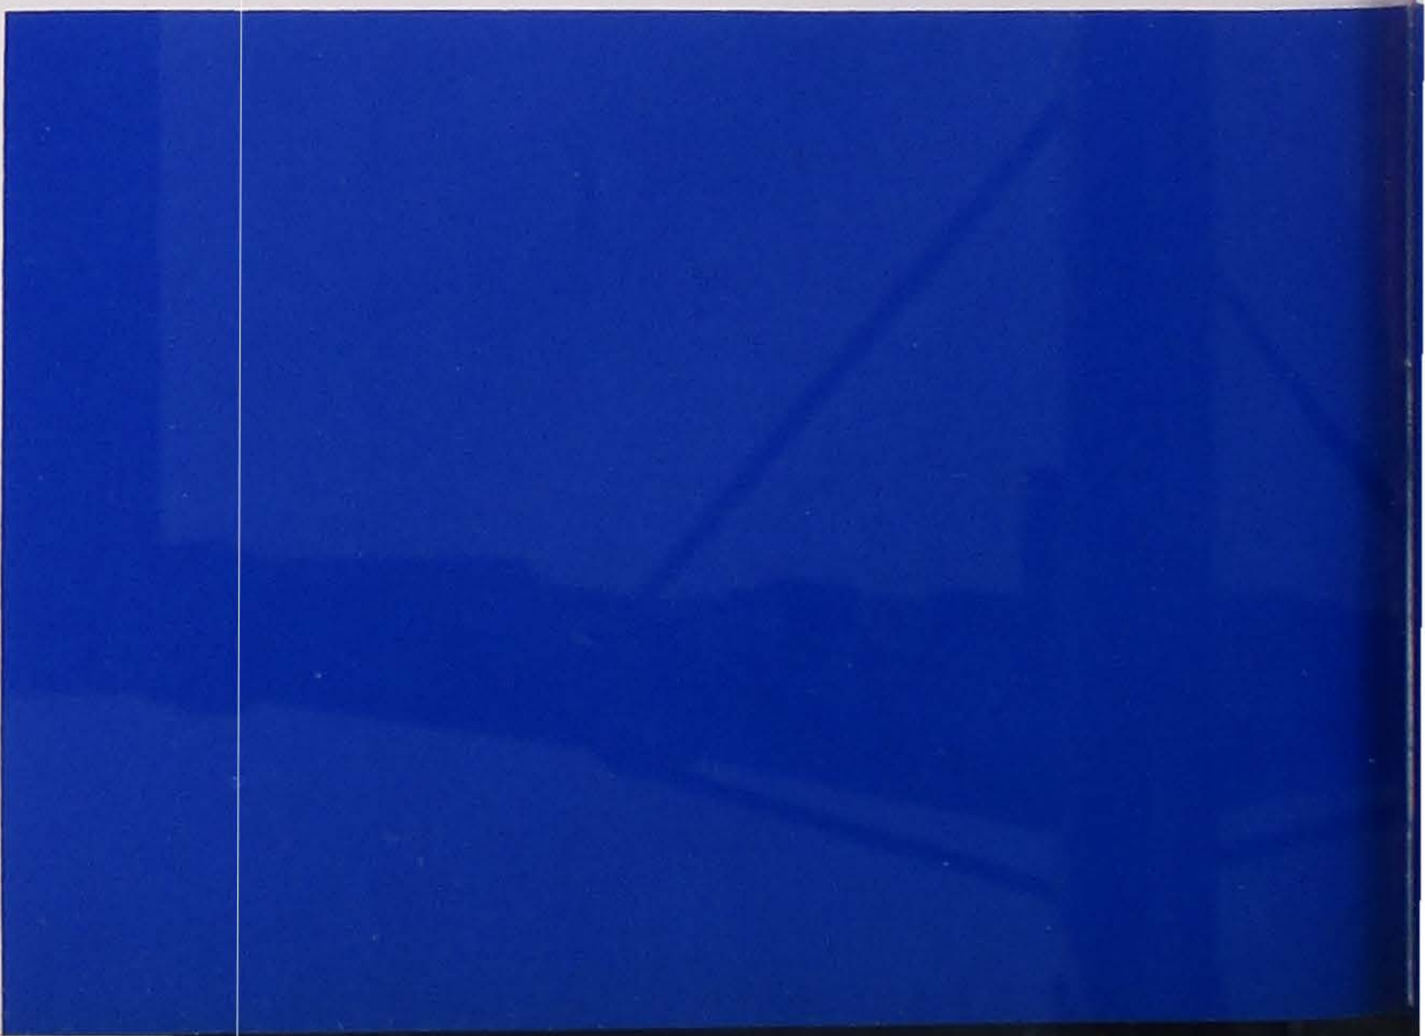

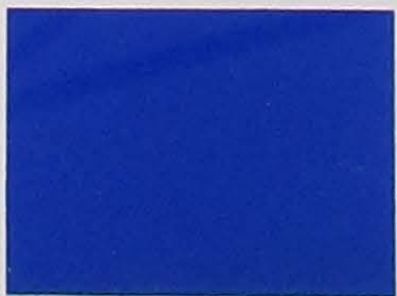

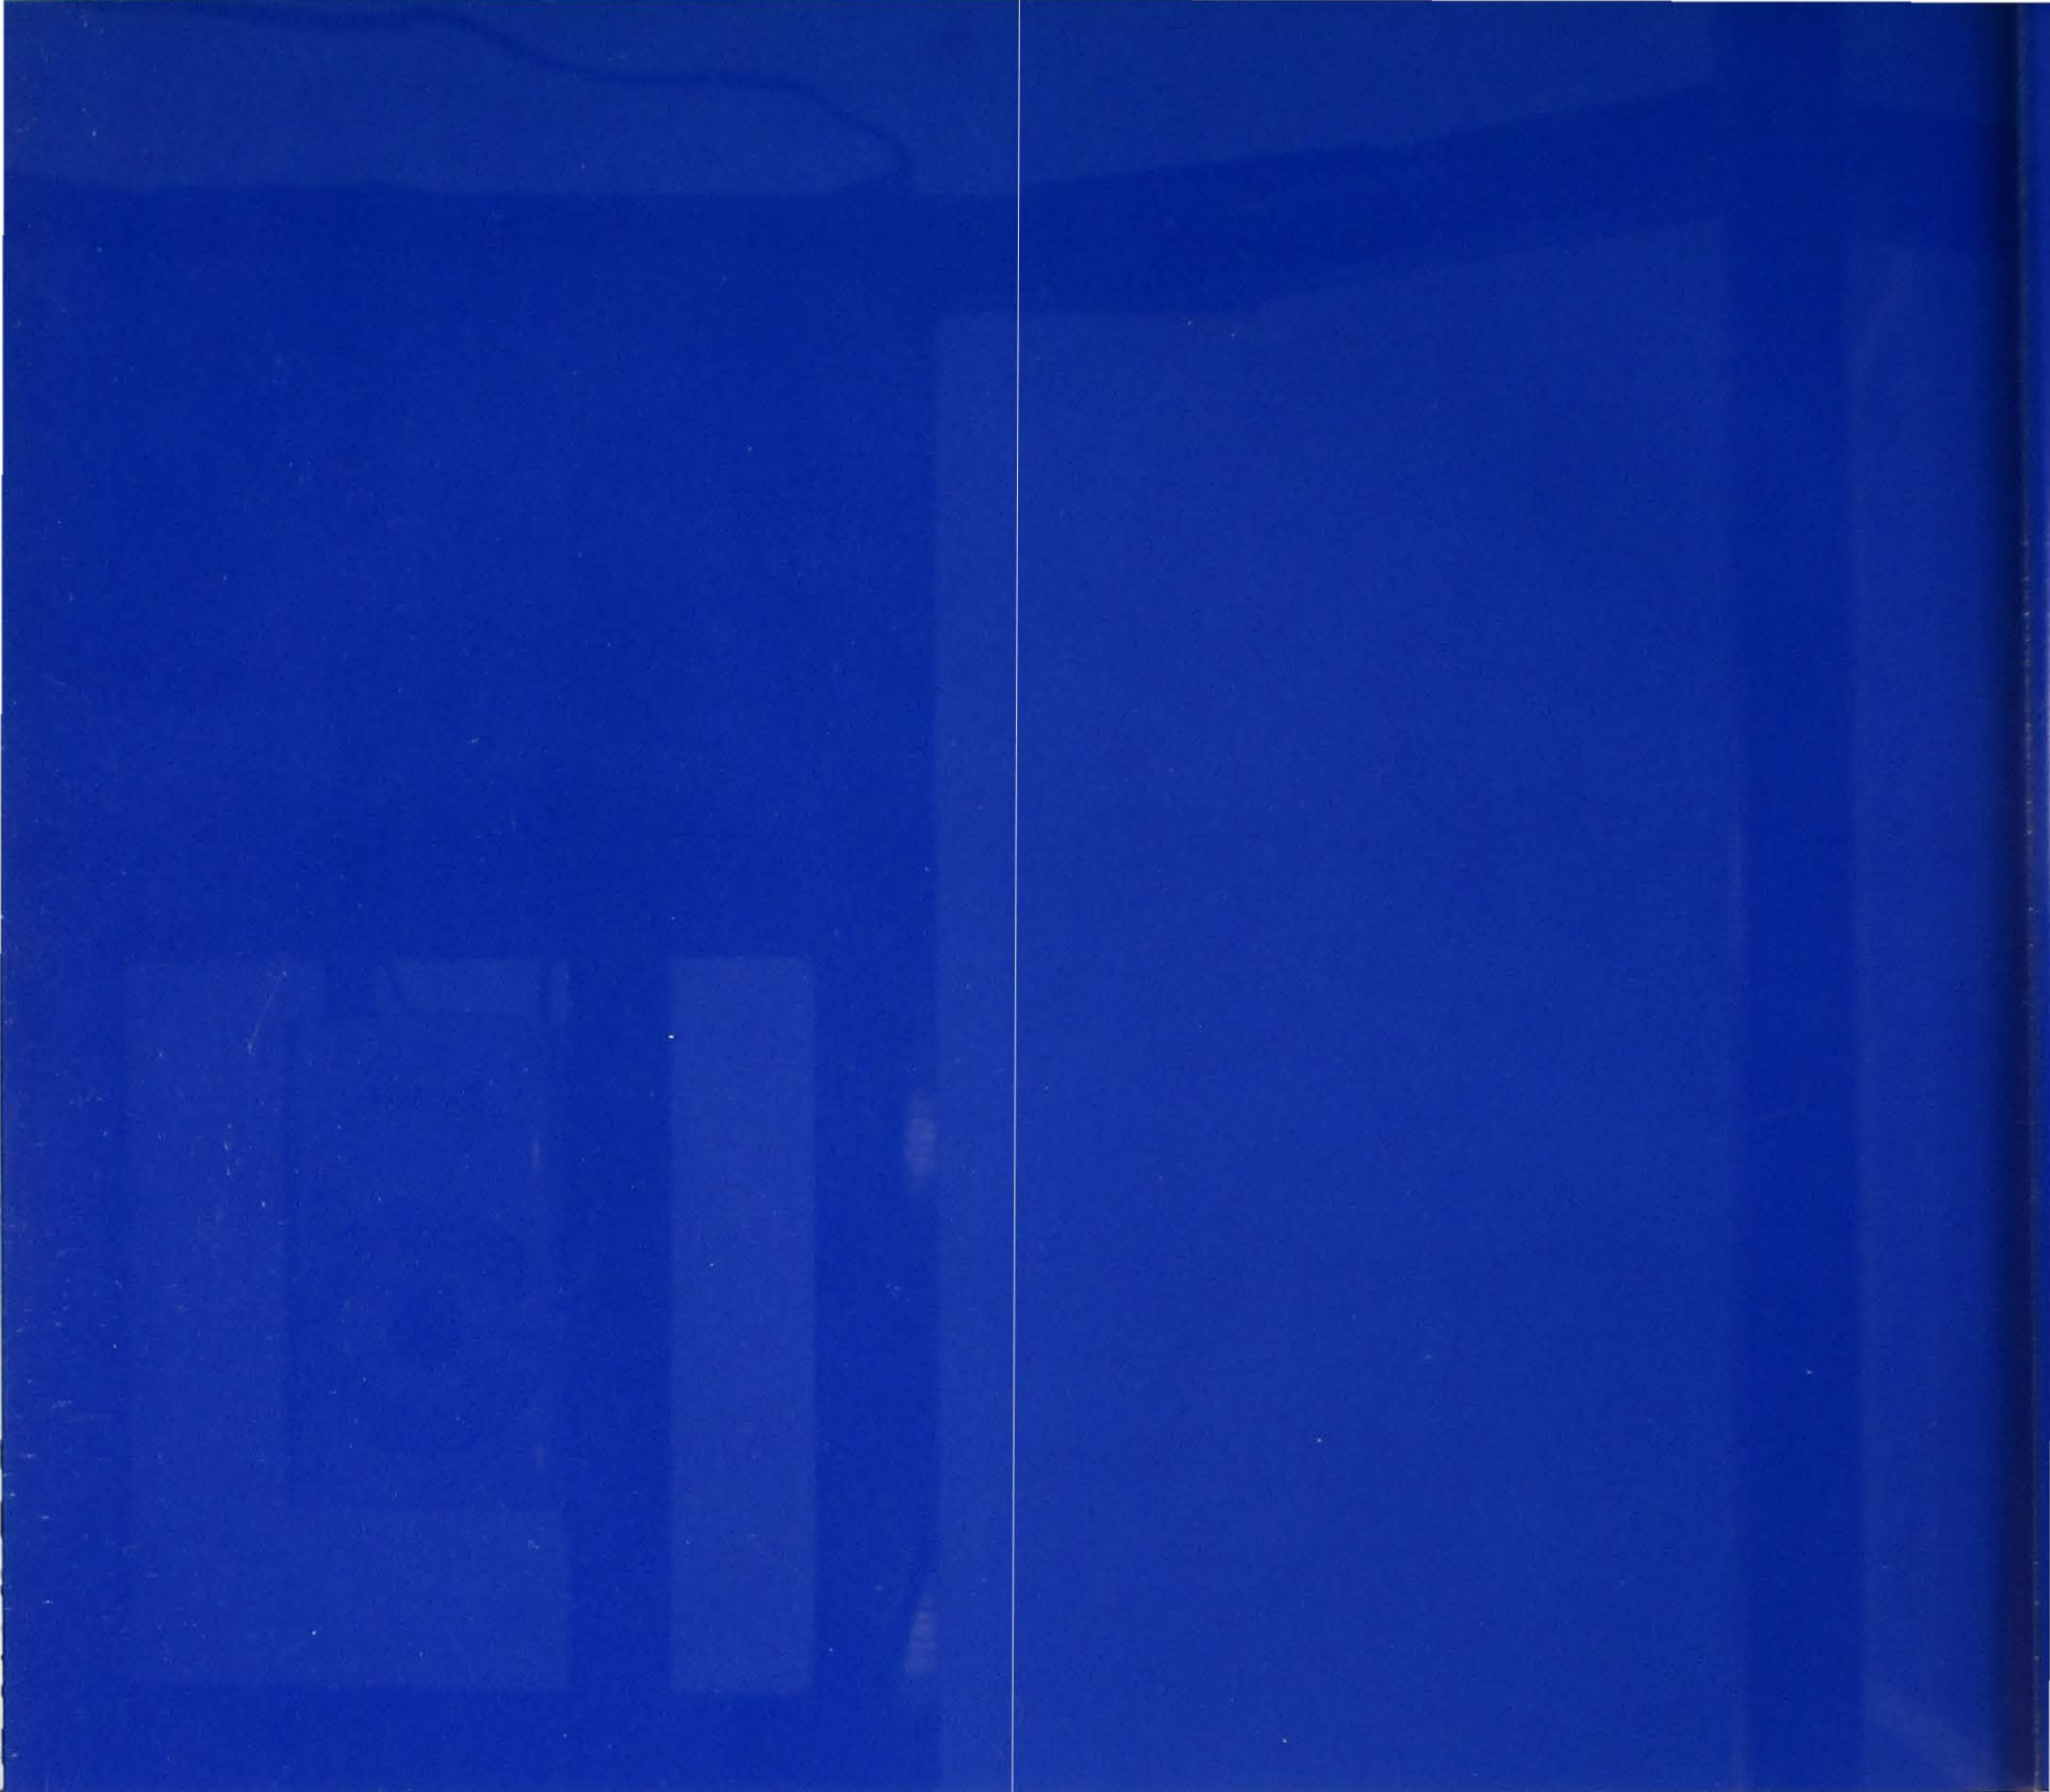

NIGHTLY MEETINGS of the entire squad gave Mr. Millikin an opportunity to expound on his track philosophy.

School board

For twelve years the Ames school system has been smoothly directed by Mr. Walter Hetzel, who has played an important role in establishing the high standard of education in Ames. One of his major responsibilities has been to hire the teachers necessary to maintain this high level of learning.

Planning for the future was an important concern of the Ames Board of Education. A new junior high school, land for another elementary school, and the sale of the Central playground were among the major issues which faced the Board.

The new city-school swimming pool was ready for summer use although workmen were still adding finishing touches last fall. The gym was far enough along to allow use of it during the winter.

Administration

For twenty-three years Mr. Herbert Adams has been principal of Ames High School. Under his supervision AHS has grown to be what it now is: one of the most respected schools in the country.

In the offices of Mr. Ritland and Mrs. Whitney many of the major administrative duties are handled. As vice-principal of AHS, Mr. Ritland shares the heavy responsibilities of Mr. Adams. Well-known to every student is Mrs. Whitney, whose main duties lie in guidance services and as senior girls' advisor.

Jr., Soph. English

To be able to speak and use English correctly would be a fitting aspiration for anyone. As a step toward this goal, English is required every high school year. Beginning with speech, literature, and composition in their sophomore year, students move to American Literature or English 11 as juniors. Each year honors courses are available, with the Honors American Literature class publishing a literary magazine, Scratch Pad, each spring. Writing un-auto-biographies is one of the challenging projects of the sophomore Honors English classes.

Two new teachers, Mr. Zitzlsperger and Mrs. Austin, offered sophomores a speech program marked by experiences in public speaking and areas of speech students are likely to encounter. The drama department, also under the direction of these two teachers, gave students an opportunity to practice some of the techniques learned in speech.

Juniors and seniors returned to school this year to find the library completely redesigned. The new plan proved to be more efficient and workable to the faculty and students, as well as the librarians. Mrs. Hoover found time to do work as a research librarian to the delight of the many students who did research themes and projects.

Social studies

To make this world and this country a better place to live in, it is necessary that each American become an active citizen. In order to prepare for their future roles as citizens, students are required to take American history as juniors and American government as seniors. Many Ames High students, however, took social studies courses as electives. These courses included economics, international relations, world history, and sociology. For the first time, economics and American government were offered as full-year courses.

Popular at Ames High were the fine arts in which students participated in band, orchestra, vocal music, and art. The marching band numbered 133 members in 1966, as Mr. Day celebrated his thirty-ninth year at AHS. New to the instrumental music department was Mr. Closs, who directed the orchestra. The choir, under Mr. Wiser, gave more concerts this year, as well as singing for the teachers' meeting in the spring.

The art department continued under the supervision of Mr. Jonas. In this program students studied forms of art including realism and surrealism.

Business education

The majority of students taking business courses at Ames High seek clerical positions after graduation. The challenging job of the business education staff is to prepare these people for careers immediately following their high school year. The business education programs give excellent preparation for the student interested in clerical work, including the courses of bookkeeping, office practices, business law, business management, typing, shorthand, filing, and business machines.

Business courses are also popular with college-bound students who realize the immediate and potential value such study provides.

DE, Co-op teach practical skills

DE and co-op

Distributive Education and Co-op provide valuable work experience for those who participate in the programs. This experience is often the major factor in helping a student decide on a career. A great variety of jobs are open to the students. Included are cadet teaching, practical nursing, skilled labor, and sales and office work.

A student in Distributive Education or Co-op divides his day into attending regular classes and working at his job. In these programs, the student receives both academic credits and paychecks for his services.

Practical arts

Skilled labor is in great demand in the world today. Because of this, technical training in industrial arts is becoming more important than ever before. Following this trend Ames High has developed a large industrial arts department offering drafting, woodworking, and auto mechanics. Drafting offers students background for an architectural career while woodworking is always practical in repair work. The students in auto mechanics work on actual auto engines in the shop. In the spring of 1966 the industrial arts department won first place in the Trouble Shooting Contest sponsored by the Chrysler Corporation.

Helpers

Education in the modern high school is a cooperative affair. Not only does it require a smoothly coordinated team of teachers and administrators and the services of many other people, but the students themselves must help. And many do—some receiving pay, others working long hours with no compensation other than knowing that they are helping to make Ames High the school it is. They help with library routines, distribute materials, pick up and record passes, and perform a multitude of other chores.

Seniors

Among the worries and frustrations that a senior year brings, the business of planning Senior Week and graduation must be carried out. This is the responsibility of the Senior Senate. The officers of Senior Senate this year were Dave Kinker, president; Mark Bauske, vice president; Steve Hetzel, secretary; and Margaret Fung and Diane Erickson, co-treasurers.

The Senior Senate introduced new ideas for graduation this year. The standard gray robe color was changed to navy blue with white-tassled caps. In previous commencements guest speakers have been asked to give the address, but for Graduation '67 two students of the 335 graduating will be chosen to speak.

Juniors

A main concern of juniors every year is the financing of the Junior-Senior Prom. As is traditional, the junior class held the annual leaf rake, sold mums for Homecoming, held a student-faculty basketball game, and sponsored the Student Directory. This year, however, Junior Exec introduced pre-football chili suppers that proved to be tremendously successful.

Sophomores

The sophomore class bravely endured the stifling heat on the day of orientation to serve their term as the youngest class at Ames High. Although they were not represented by class officers, the sophs did have their own band, and football and basketball teams.

As the year progressed the sophomores became more a part of Ames High as activities such as the Sophomore Style Show, Big Sister-Little Sister program, and the varsity sports of wrestling, track, and baseball tied them together with the juniors and seniors.

Soph football enjoys success

DOWNING TECH 38—7 was only one of many victories for the sophomores. Lyle Scandrett, first string fullback, proved a valuable player in gaining long yardage.

UNUSUAL SUPPORT followed the victorious sophomore team as Ames fans outnumbered those for the opposition at every game.

I have my own world here,
my own people,
and my own lodging.
But I cannot survive
without the many people outside my world.
They,
the people of Ames,
built me and support me.
I owe them
my people,
my lodging,
and this Book
that commemorates it all.

The laughter dies;
the doors are closed;
another year has ended.
I stand alone now
knowing that some will return,
but others will be gone forever.
These lonely days will pass quickly for them,
but the days are long for me.
Yet another year will come,
another and another,
before at last I sleep.

GAY FORMALS and multicolored dinner jackets brightened Great Hall as couples danced to the music of Norva Gray.

Medieval theme creates 'Caerleon'

KAYE KLEIN AND Dave Riley found refreshments by walking over the old drawbridge.

A banquet and entertainment in the Sun Room of the Memorial Union got the 1967 Prom, "Caerleon," off to a good start.

"Caerleon," in Arthurian legend, was a city in which King Arthur held court, so when the Grand March was completed, couples found the Great Hall decorated with banners, coats of arms, and an old drawbridge. Norva Gray provided music, and for those who wished to take a break from dancing, the movie Charade was run in the Sun Room.

The Prom was over at midnight, but the magic of the night lasted much longer. Seniors and their dates had refreshments and danced to the music of the Noteables at the Elks' Club. Juniors and their dates relaxed at the Moose Club.

As always, the good time had by all made the planning and hard work put in by the juniors well worth it.

Senior Week climaxed by graduation

THE CLIMAX of High School brought serious expressions to the faces of graduating Seniors at commencement exercises.

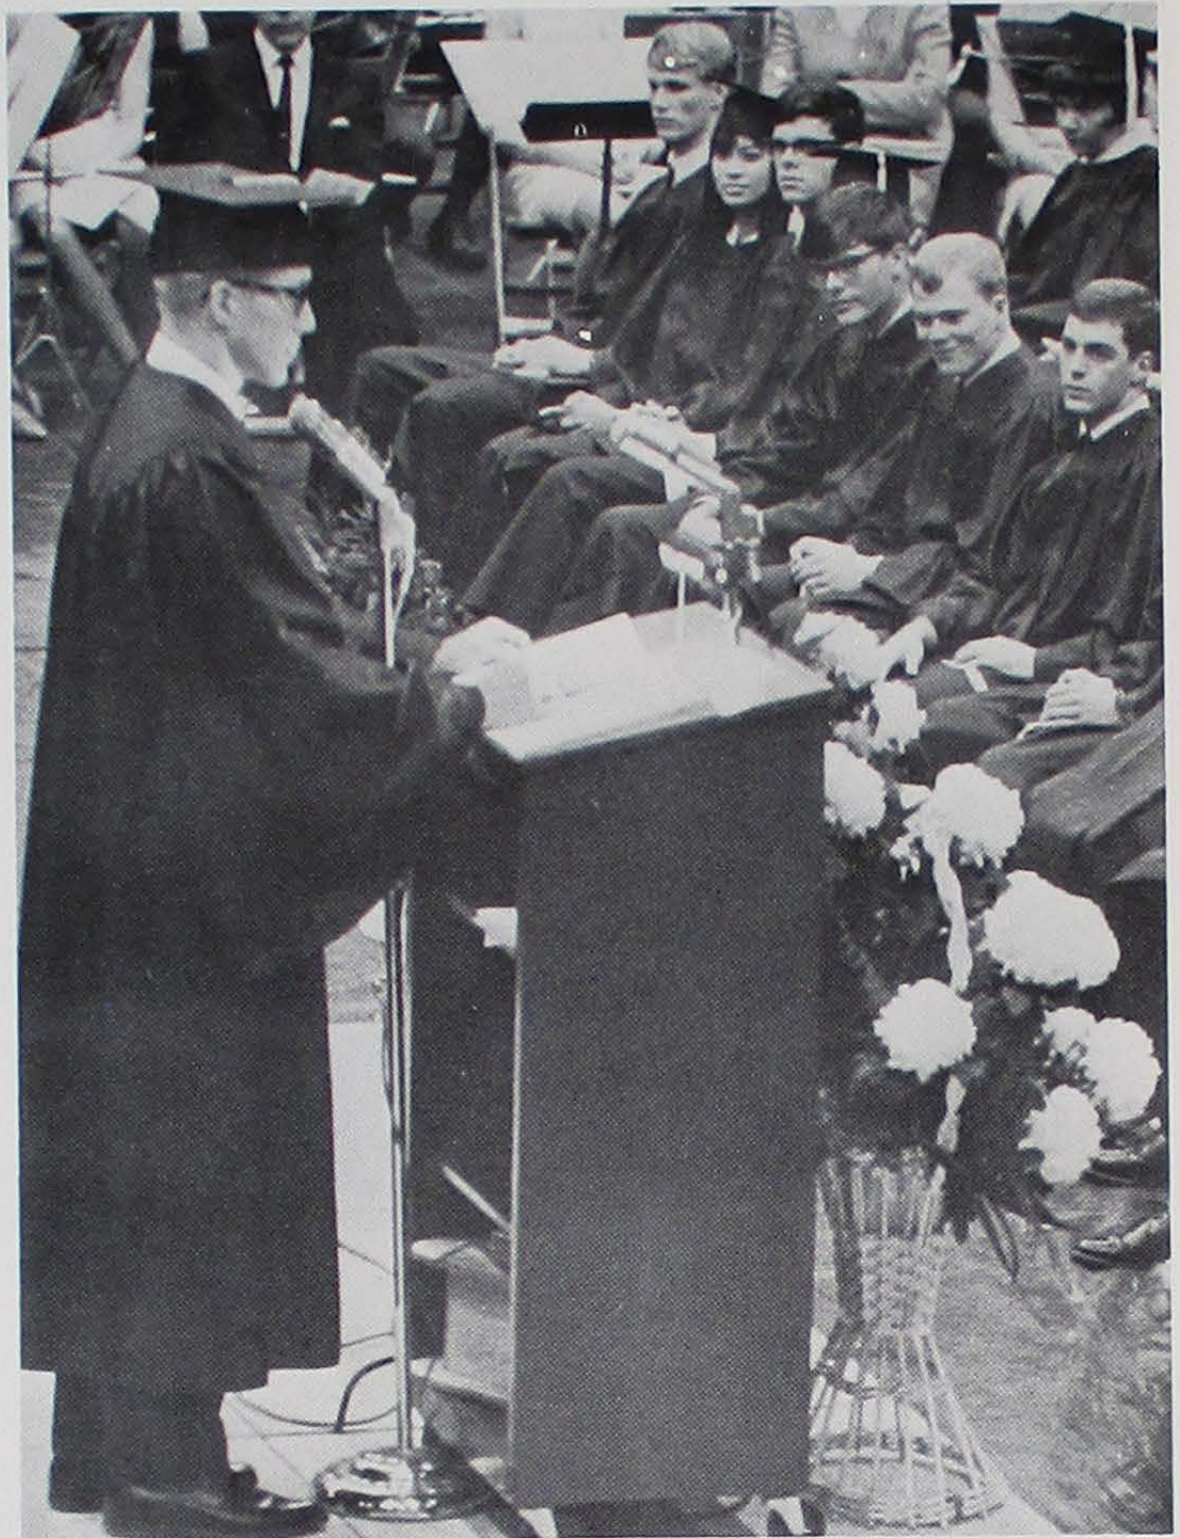

SENIOR WEEK began with a morning of rehearsal for baccalaureate and graduation exercises.

THE DISTRIBUTION of the long-awaited Spirits interrupted activities at the Senior Picnic.

The new gymnasium was the scene of baccalaureate and commencement as graduation exercises were held for the first time in several years in an Ames High School building. On Sunday, May 28, graduating seniors heard the Reverend Carl F. Schattauer of the Bethesda Lutheran Church, who gave the baccalaureate address, "Heritage for the Future." At commencement, on May 31, seniors voiced their own views through Debby Ruhe and Mark Bauske. Representing the senior class, Debby and Mark delivered the commencement addresses, as 319 seniors, the third largest class in Ames High history, completed their high school education.

WHITE PAPER SACKS filled with graduation announcements were investigated by seniors Karen Ethington and Kathy Willrich.

DICK VOHS

Vohs, Harrison vie for student body office

A tense week of late nights, writing, typing, coaching and practicing speeches preceded the first election assembly in the new gym.

The Harrison-Wells platform included: Senior privileges, which would allow seniors to leave study hall to go outside or to the student lounge; more and improved assemblies, ones that would be both educational and interesting, possibly for government agencies and large corporations; activity cards for all athletic events, drama productions and school parties; a total revision of the AHS Constitution.

The Vohs-Hamilton platform consisted of: revival of "A" Club, with the possibility of money-raising projects to help support fan buses, organize a boys' cheering section and improve school spirit; more spring activities; a student court that would handle fire squad tickets, vandalism problems and other school infractions.

When the last votes were counted an announcement over the sound system declared Dick Vohs and Bob Hamilton the victors.

With the new pool came the formation of a new girls club, the Synchronettes. Under the direction of Mrs. Jacobson, the swimmers worked hard all year to produce their first show, "The Sea." Colorful costumes enhanced the fanciful sea creatures. The production was enjoyed by packed audiences both nights it ran.

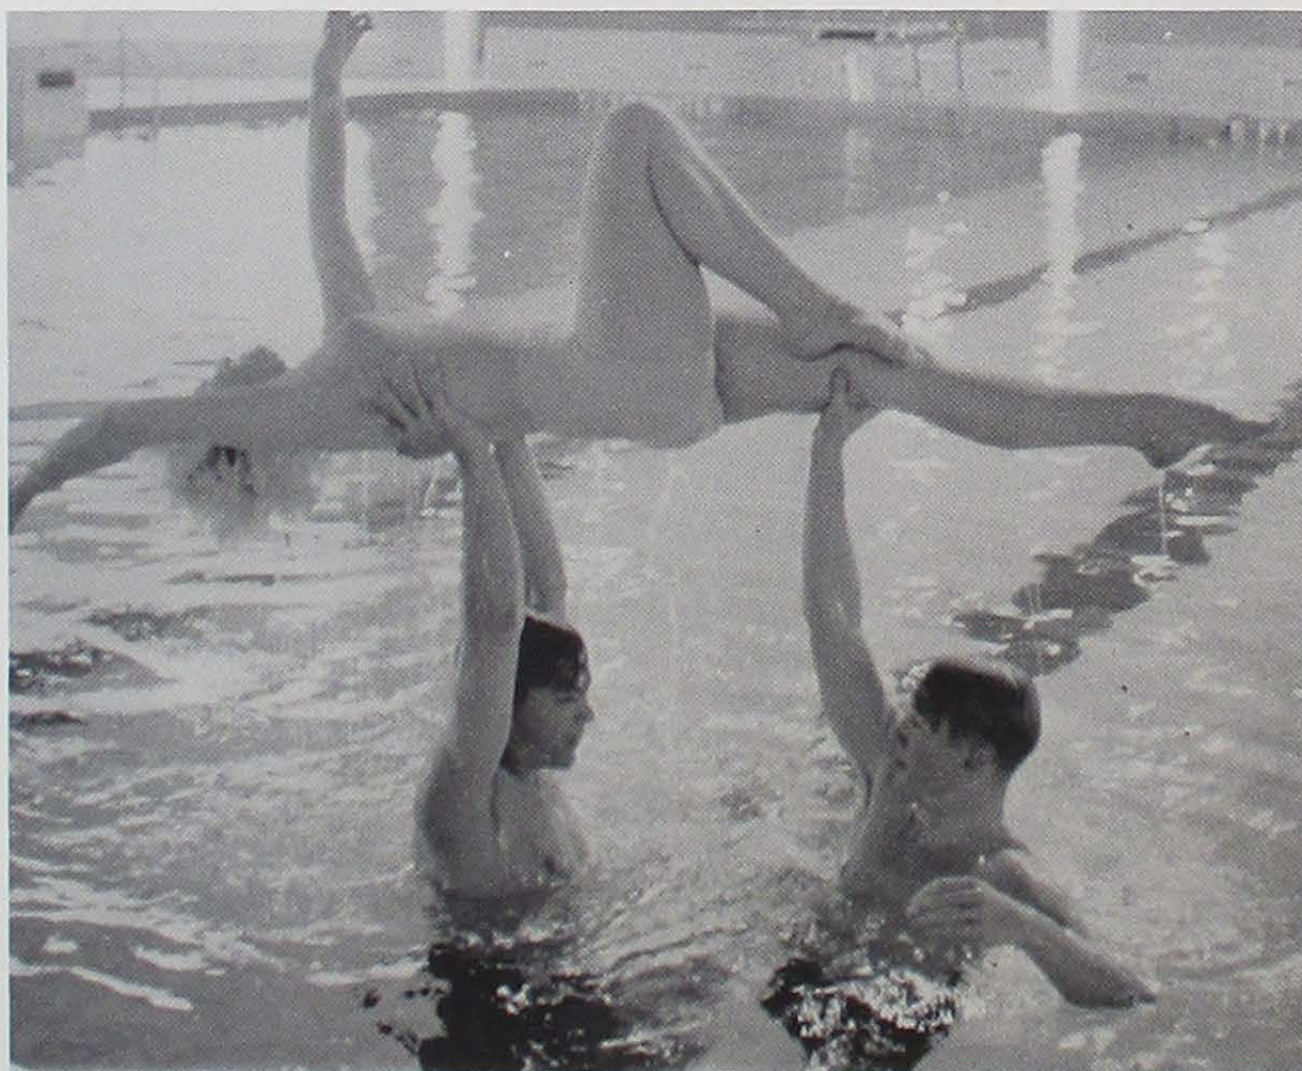

SAILBOATS, LOBSTERS, and even an octopus inhabited the pool.

Synchronettes produce 'The Sea'

MR. HIEDEMAN carried out the sea theme in a vivid shirt, captain's hat, and leis.

VICKI MILLS with Mark Bauske and John Mathison, members of the AHS swim team, formed a trio in a feature act.

Track team wins Bobcat, District

The 1967 track season had a disappointing start as Ames ended in a tie for 16th in the State Indoor. The Little Cyclones soon evened their record by winning the East Triangular only to fall flat at the Valley Relays a week later.

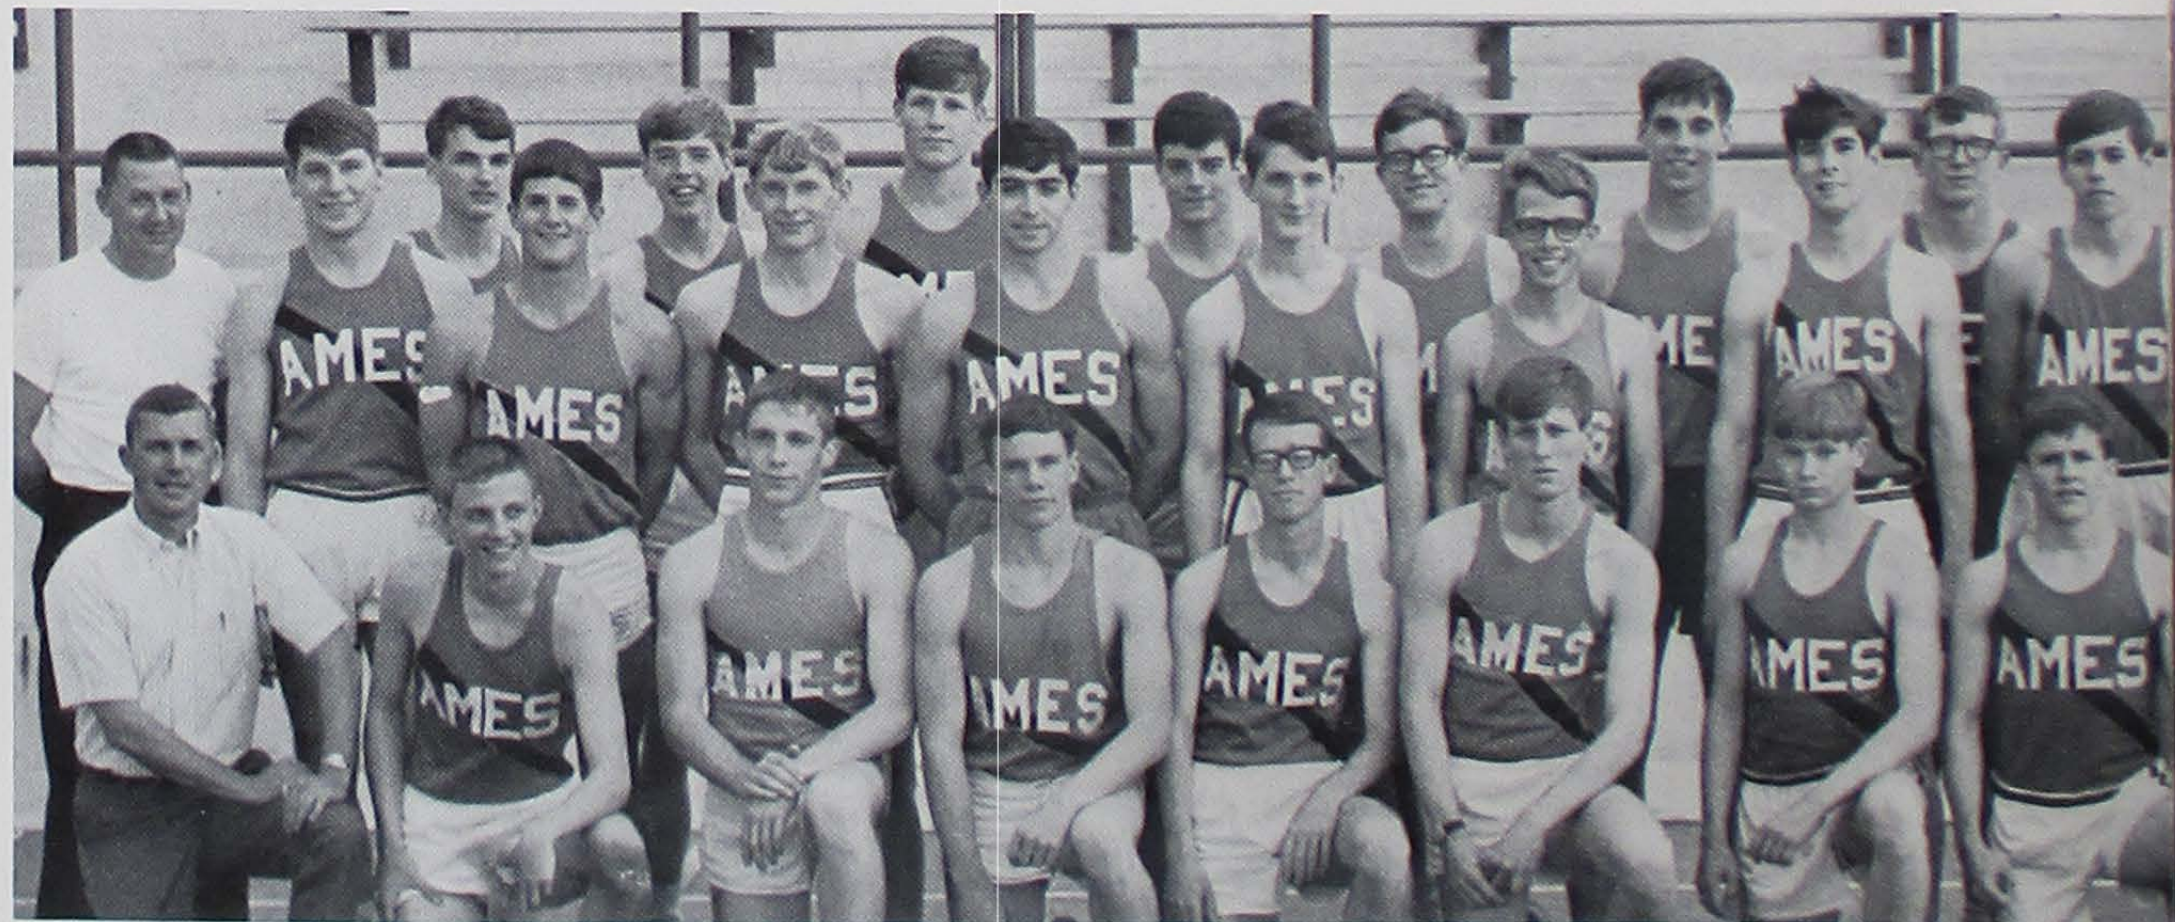

The thinclads gained momentum through mid-season as they won their thirteenth straight Bobcat Invitational, edging out Valley Relays champion D.M. Roosevelt in the final relay. Ames turned back Roosevelt again along with D.M. North to win the Ames Invitational, the first meet held on the track's new Grasstex surface.

The Little Cyclones' next victory was the District meet, another close contest decided in the final event. Ames then lost its last two meets of the season, the Conference and State Outdoor, despite several personal bests. Although failing to win either state meet, a rarity for an Ames team, the Little Cyclones maintained their perfect Bobcat Invitational record and their mastery of the East Triangular, Ames Invitational, and District meets.

FASTEST MAN ON THE CYCLONE TEAM, Joe Hostetter charges out of the blocks at the State Outdoor. Joe also anchored the sprint relays and was a consistent point-getter throughout the season.

THIS VAULT placed Joe Hensing third in the State Outdoor. Joe and Larry Lasche, the Ames vaulters, scored in every meet and took first and second at East, the Bobcat, Conference, Ames Invitational, and District. Joe also set a new Conference Meet record.

A TOP QUARTER AND HALF-MILER, Mike Kitchell takes off on the anchor leg of the mile medley. Mike also anchored the 2 mile relay that finished fourth in the state meet.

The Ames High netmen, under the guidance of Jim Friest, posted one of the finest seasons to date. They collected a total of nine wins to only two losses in dual meets and came in first in the Central Iowa Conference meet. The Little Cyclones handed Roosevelt of Des Moines its first dual meet loss in over six years.

To highlight the season the doubles team of Dave Hammer—Mike Barcus captured first place at the Conference meet while sophomore Fred Dahm took a second in singles competition. Also, at the District meet the Dahm-Hammer doubles team took second place honors.

Golfers finish second in CLC

Ames High's golf team, coached by George Duvall, wound up with an even 4—4 dual meet record after losing the first four meets. The Little Cyclones finished first in sectionals, third in the district, and were edged out only by Marshalltown in the conference meet.

The State Junior golf meet, held at the Iowa State University golf course, saw two Ames golfers in contention for top honors. Steve Harrell and Mark Ladd finished among the top eight players in the state.

The Ames High baseball team enjoyed a winning season this year, finishing with an 11—8 record. The outstanding feature of the season seemed to be the big improvement the young club made between the first and last games, as was shown by the fact that they were playing for the conference championship in the final game. This, unfortunately, was lost, dropping the Little Cyclones into third place with a 7—3 CIC record.

There were two outstanding plays made during the year according to Coach Ray Smalling. The first was Bill Good's outfield catch at Marshalltown to retire the side with the bases loaded. The other, by Rick Engel, was in the ninth inning of the Jefferson game. He picked up what was thought to be a sure hit smashed into right field and fired the ball to first for the out which retired the Jeffs with two left on base.

This year's team was composed mostly of sophomores and juniors, making prospects very good for next year.

DENNIS BAPPE takes a mighty swing for the ball in an early season game.

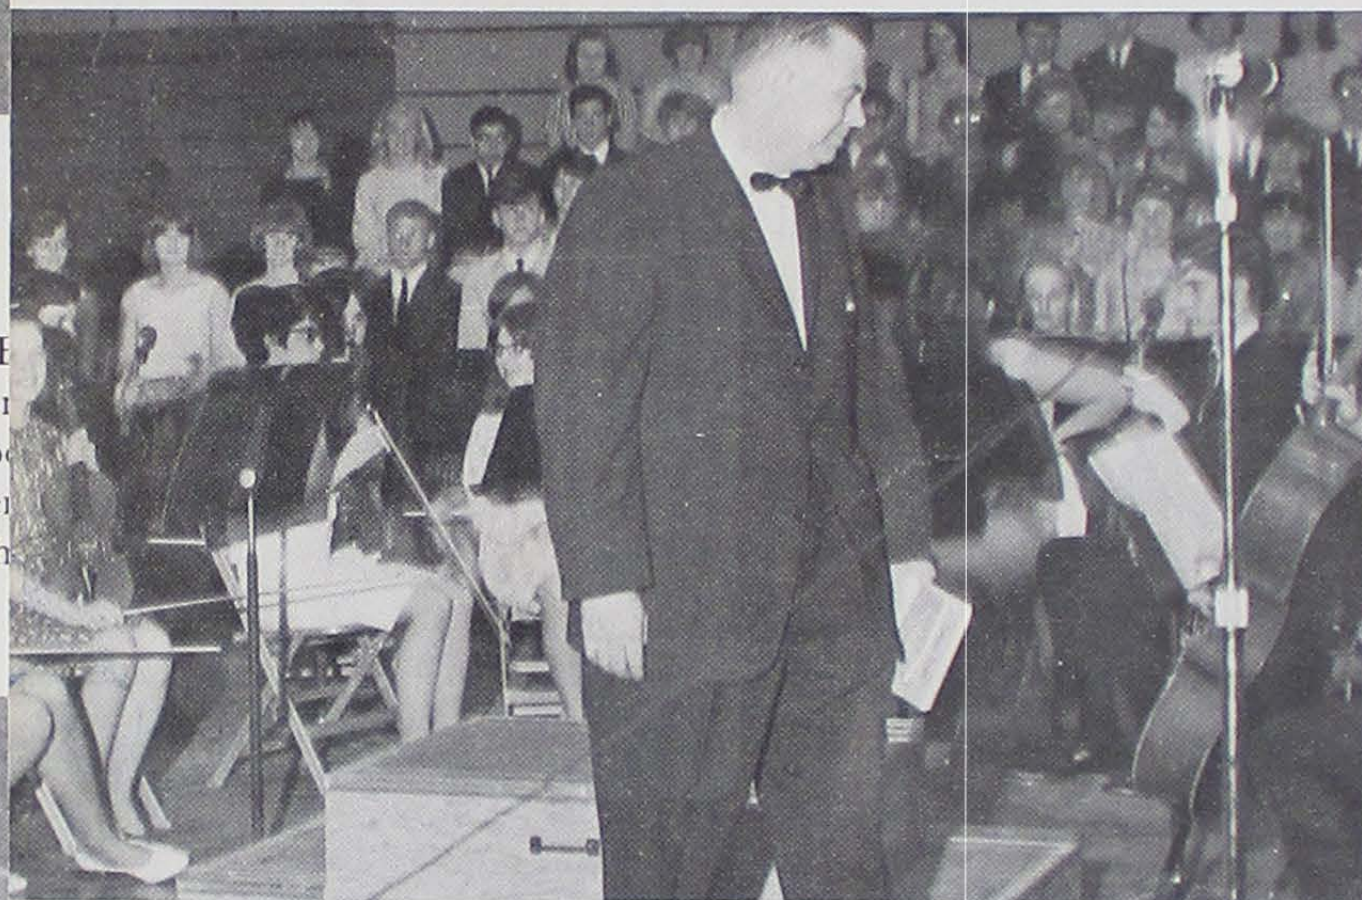

THE TWIRP DANCE ended a week of feminine chivalry at AHS.

THE CHOIR, directed by Mr. Wiser, presented "Gloria" and "Drum Taps" as its Spring Concert.
